

Top Democrats Unworried Over Being Stopped

Party Starts 18th Year At Wheel

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Democratic party soon starts its 18th successive year in the presidential driver's seat. Its top men show no worry about being stopped.

President Truman and Vice President Barkley take the view that the party can go on winning provided it conducts an unrelenting fight for the principles for which it stands. They see the country continuing to prosper, and know that prosperity is usually good for the "ins."

Southern Democrats, long a road block to program achievement but surmountable at national election time, are raising danger signals over federal spending, "socialistic" tendencies, and Civil Rights. But even they do not see the party breaking up as some Republicans would have it.

Elections Big Factor

And even some Southern Democrats are beginning to hit back at men like James F. Byrnes, one of the first to warn the party against a trend toward what he called "statism," or too much power in the government. Compromises, too, may be in the offing on some intra-party issues.

On the whole, Democratic leaders are confident about the party's future, but caution against resting on past achievements.

The degree of success or failure of the party's program in the coming session of Congress may well be reflected, in some measure at least, in the 1950 congressional elections.

Ordinarily the opposition party makes inroads on—and sometimes overturns—congressional majorities of the other party in non-presidential elections. For example, the Republicans picked up 80 seats in the House in 1938, 47 in 1942, and 54 in 1946. They also gained 6, 9, and 12 Senate seats in those years.

Democratic campaign strategists, however, say their party can upset tradition and knock off a few more Republicans next year for a net gain of about three in the Senate and from 20 to 25 in the House.

Family Leaves; Flint Worker Kills Self And Blows Up House

Flint, Mich., Dec. 20 (AP)—A Flint auto worker whose wife and children left him several days ago committed suicide early today by shooting himself and then blowing up his house.

The victim was Gryla Mate, 50. Coroner James K. Sutherland said Mate opened a gas line in his one-story home, set a mattress afire and then shot himself in the chest. Shortly afterward the gas exploded, knocking out the rear wall of the building.

Mate's wife Helen told police that her husband had threatened to kill her on several occasions. She said she and two of her children, Joseph, 17, and Irene, 14, had moved to the home of another son, Julius, 20.

Mate was arrested in 1946 and again this month for threatening his wife.

Firm Fined $10,000

Detroit, Dec. 29 (AP)—Two operators of the Reliable Cleaners and Dyers Co. in Battle Creek were fined a total of $10,000 in federal court here today.

The two, David Dubman, 34, and Fred Weiss, 29, were charged with income tax evasion. They admitted to officers that they had failed to list income totaling $58,000.

Coal Pinch May Cause New Cuts In Rail Service

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) contended today that the three-day mine week—which has so cut coal production that a slash in rail service threatens—cannot be halted by President Truman.

Morse stated that view on the heels of a report that the Interstate Commerce commission meeting today (4 p. m. EST), might order a 25 per cent cut in passenger service on coal burning railroads.

The roads report they are low on coal due to the short work week ordered by United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis. Southern coal operators, accusing Lewis of unfair labor practices, yesterday asked the National Labor Relations Board to take court action to force a return to full production.

Earlier, some operators had urged Mr. Truman to use his separate emergency Taft-Hartley act powers—including a provision for an 80-day strike-halting injunction—toward that end.

But Morse said his opinion as a lawyer is that the President's national emergency powers under the T-H act can be used only in cases where there is an actual critical strike—or the threat of such a strike.

"There is a great difference," Morse told newsmen, "between a dispute which causes economic losses and suffering and one which imperils national health or safety."

"A coal dispute could very well reach the latter proportions, but obviously the present one has not done so to date, nor is there any likelihood it will if the three-day week is continued."

Morse, who wants the Taft-Hartley law repealed, thus took sharp issue with Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader. Two days ago Wherry said there was "deplorable evidence of negligence" in the fact Mr. Truman has not used the Taft-Hartley act to restore full time production of coal.

Wherry also accused Mr. Truman of failing to enforce the T-H law because he doesn't like the measure and wants it wiped off the books.

The President has said he will use the law if a national emergency develops. But he has expressed no opinion as to whether he would have the legal right to invoke the law under the present circumstances—when Lewis could argue in court that production limitation is no strike.

The ICC last week took note of the coal shortage by giving railroads first call on coal produced in the mines which normally supply them. At that time the government agency said "the interest of the public and the commerce of the people is seriously threatened."

When Lewis' miners were on strike several months ago, the ICC ordered a 25 per cent cut in coal-fueled passenger train service.

Full service was restored after Lewis called a truce in the strike. The mine leader meanwhile imposed the three-day work week in an effort to keep pressure on the operators for a new contract calling for improved welfare benefits and higher pay.

Hervey Allen Dies Suddenly

Heart Attack Fatal To Famous Author

Miami, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—Hervey Allen, world-famous author of "Anthony Adverse," died of a heart attack at his winter home here yesterday. He was 60.

The noted author's body was found on the bathroom floor and Dr. Franz Stewart, heart specialist said he apparently was stricken while preparing to shave.

He frequently worked late at night and slept late, so no alarm was felt when he failed to appear in the morning. Mrs. Allen found the body about 1 p. m. (EST).

At the time of his death he was working on a book called "City In The Dawn," fourth and last in a series dealing with pre-Revolutionary days in the United States. "City In The Dawn" dealt with Philadelphia.

His literary career began in 1921 and included many books, among them "Wampum and Old Gold," "Israfel," "Action at Aquila," and "The Forest and the Fort."

"Anthony Adverse," which he began in Bermuda in 1932 and finished in 1933, brought him his greatest fame. He had edited the "Rivers of America" series since 1943.

He was active in the Historical Association of Southern Florida and a member of many national and international literary societies. He was a founder-member of the Poetry society of South Carolina. While lecturing at Vassar he met Ann Hyde Andrews, whom he married in 1927. In addition to his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Marcia 20 and Mary Ann 18, and a son, Richard, 13.

State Pays Insurance On Abandoned Boilers

Lansing, Del. 29 (AP)—A full-dress investigation of the state's boiler insurance policies by the state administrative board was ordered today after an agent disclosed the state has been buying insurance on boilers it did not own or use.

Governor Williams withdrew an order to cancel all the insurance bids and an order to call for new bids when Republican members of the board objected, demanding a full discussion of the situation at the board meeting next Tuesday.

The situation was disclosed yesterday by Walter B. Carey, president of the Michigan Insurance Agency of Detroit, who said he was low bidder on a new contract to insure boilers on all state property. All the bids, ranging up to $27,000, were rejected by the state administrative board for an explanation of the variance, since insurance rates are supposed to be uniform.

Carey reported that his agents personally inspected each locality to be insured and discovered 52 of them were either not in use, disconnected or on property no longer belonging to the state. He said the state has been paying insurance on some of the items for as long as two years.

The department of administration, red-faced because it prepared the bid specifications, said it was reviewing the entire matter.

Detroit, Dec. 29 (AP)—Five stores on Warren avenue were damaged by a $15,000 fire last night. Two firemen were overcome by smoke.

More Offices And More Cash Needed By GOP

Truman Spending To Be Campaign Issue

By JACK BELL

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Republican leaders seemed agreed today on making the Truman administration's spending policies one of their chief issues of the 1950 campaign.

That was the one suggestion that cropped up most often in an analysis of current and recent statements by GOP bigwigs on the future course of their party. As of now, it needs much more money and many more offices.

Out of a long drought at the presidential polling places has come about every possible suggestion for reorganizing and rebuilding the party.

At one wing, Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio has proposed an outright merger with southern Democrats. On the other wing, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts has called for a Republican party that will hold out its hand to labor.

Vandenberg Gives Creed

Guy G. Gabrielson, the Republican national chairman, has joined the latest GOP outcry against "me-tooism" in his party.

However, Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, whose reelection last November was one of few bright spots in a dull Republican sky, says it all depends on what the GOP is "me-tooing."

He, for one, says he is willing to "me-too" the ten commandments, the preamble to the constitution and a strong national defense.

Driscoll has opposed federal aid to education and federal public housing. But he has plugged a state program to accomplish the same ends.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.) put his creed for Republicans into one sentence. He said the Republican aim should be:

"To restore the American system to safe foundations before it is too late and to gear dependable progress with national solvency and individual freedom."

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, a potential 1952 presidential candidate, called in

Truman Polishes Up His Taxation Plans

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—President Truman will deliver his State-of-the-Union message before a joint session of the Senate and House next Wednesday.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles C. Ross said the exact time of the president's talk has not been fixed, but that it will be around 12:30 p. m. (EST).

Ross said the president's message would require about 35 to 40 minutes to deliver. The president usually speaks at a pace of about 120 words a minute.

A big question is whether the budget message will call for balancing the government's income and outgo. A balanced budget presumably would mean some tax boosts or some drastic cuts in spending plans. The period to be covered is the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Mr. Truman flew back to Washington yesterday from a Christmas holiday in Missouri. He brought with him Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, whose advice would be sought on any spending and taxing plans.

In a report from still another cabinet member, Mr. Truman was told yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer that American business and labor would rather get their profits and wages from private operations than from programs sponsored and financed by the government.

Sawyer also said tax reduction ranks No. 1 in businessmen's recommendations—with some labor support—of "measures to be taken to make private business operate profitably and to give employees steady work at good wages."

Mayor Of New York Winds Up Honeymoon

Key Largo, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer and his bride will fly home today to end a nine-day Florida honeymoon.

The couple planned to board an Eastern Airlines plane at Miami's International Airport at 3:30 p. m. (EST), for the four-hour flight to Newark, N. J.

O'Dwyer and the former Sloan Simpson were married at Stuart, Fla., Dec. 20 and have cruised along the southeast Florida coast since then. He will be sworn in Jan. 2 for another term as mayor of New York.

Soviet Mystery Ships Snoop In Caribbean

Whoopie Cost For New Year About Normal

New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—It can cost a lot or a little to welcome 1950 in the big city.

It all depends on how you do it, and where.

New Year's eve is the big night for New York's assorted night sports, and most of them have big party plans.

Prices for the holiday night generally are normal ranging from $7.50 for dinner and a funny hat up to just about any amount the bankroll will stand.

The tonier night spots and supper clubs ask around $25 per person for food, entertainment and treats. The fixed figure does not include drinks.

Police have completed plans to handle the thousands who will jam Times Square.

Leone's Club, just off Broadway, said it will have an old-fashioned milk-wagon in a near-by parking lot to serve beakers of milk to celebrants, and if necessary, carry them safely home.

The Waldorf-Astoria plans to have 10 dining rooms and cocktail bars open, with a maximum dinner-and-music charge of $18, plus tax.

At Cerutti's Club, on Madison Avenue, the management will stop the show at 1 a. m. to serve all patrons with a "hangover stew"—an oyster, milk and paprika concoction.

New York state law bans the serving of drinks after 3 a. m., and no concessions are made for toasting the New Year past that hour.

Hungary Seizes Foreign Firms

Spying And Sabotage Charged By Reds

By ENDRE MARON

Budapest, Hungary, Dec. 29 (AP)—Hungary's Communist government today seized a large number of foreign-owned companies, charging they were being used "to build up espionage and sabotage rings."

Among those ordered nationalized were the Standard Electric Works, a subsidiary of the American-owned International Telephone and Telegraph Co. Two foreign officials—an American and a Briton—and a Hungarian manager of the company are in a Hungarian jail charged with espionage and sabotage.

The government also broadened its nationalization program by taking over all Hungarian-owned enterprises employing more than 10 persons and all printing plants employing more than five. This was considered a long step toward further socialization of the country's economy.

Compensation was promised for the foreign and domestic-owned nationalized plants.

The foreign companies seized had previously been exempted in 1948 from nationalization, although every Hungarian manufacturing firm employing more than 100 persons was nationalized at that time.

Minister of State Erno Gero, who directs the nation's economy, announced the seizure as "absolutely necessary" to wipe out the remains of foreign holdings to "prevent these undertakings from being used for subversive machinations."

Ice Fishermen Told To Improve Manners

Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—The conservation department appealed to ice fishermen today to improve their manners.

Failure to do so, the department warned, may mean a rash of "no trespassing" signs on especially southern lakes.

Property owners are complaining that fishermen are littering the ice with beer bottles, tin cans and other trash. They complain that this will make swimming hazardous next summer.

There have been cases reported where fishermen ripped siding off cottages for their fires, used front lawns of cottages as parking lots and failed to ask permission to cross private land to get to the lakes.

Press Offices Close

The Escanaba Daily Press offices will be closed from 9 to 10 a. m. Friday during the funeral services for Mrs. John P. Norton.

Six Holidays Of 1949 Bring Death To 2717

Fatal Accidents Set Staggering Record

By the Associated Press

The nation celebrated the six major holidays in 1949 with a lot of whoopie and gaiety but there was a staggering toll of violent accidental deaths—2,717.

And, the National Safety Council predicts, 1950 will start with 330 Americans being killed in traffic accidents over the New Year's week-end. It did not estimate the number of deaths in other accidents.

Deaths on the highways, in the air, fires, drownings, and a variety of other causes reached new records over some of the holiday periods this year. In most of them, the traffic toll exceeded the figure estimated by the council.

The 1949 holiday violent deaths showed: 1,705 in traffic mishaps; 391 drowned; 66 killed in fires and 555 killed in "accidents of miscellaneous causes"—including falls, airplane crashes, shootings, asphyxiations, etc.

Here is a breakdown for the holidays:

New Year's (two days)—309, including 207 traffic; Memorial Day (three days), 413, including 253 traffic, 87 drownings; Fourth of July (three days), 711, including 315 traffic, 256 drownings; Labor Day (three days), 525, including 394 traffic; Thanksgiving (one day), 179, including 123 traffic; Christmas (three days), 580, including 413 traffic.

The safety council has termed the violent deaths during the holiday celebrations "shameful," "appalling" and "disgraceful."

After last weekend's Christmas holiday, when 580 persons lost their lives in accidents, Council President Ned H. Dearborn said:

"The actual death toll for our three day celebration was more than that for the Texas city disaster of two years ago which horrified the nation."

"Our holidays have become a series of 'Texas cities' in a week (New Year's) we may expect another one unless the people have sickened of making horror days out of their holidays."

Only a blizzard that "sews the country up tight" can prevent a death toll of at least 330 over the New Year's holiday, Dearborn said.

"But let's depend on ourselves and not the weather man, he added."

Manila Sways In Earthquake

Buildings Damaged On Luzon Island

Manila, Dec. 29 (AP)—Luzon Island swayed sickeningly throughout its 500 mile length for two and a half minutes today. Almost every able bodied person fled into the streets and fields for safety.

Seismographs registered an earthquake of moderate intensity. There were no reports of casualties.

But damage to many buildings was reported. Large cracks appeared in the walls of some of Manila's tallest structures. Occupants were warned about re-entering them until after the quake tremors were over.

Three fires started by short circuits in electric lines were extinguished quickly.

Telephone poles whipped back and forth at the zenith of the tremor.

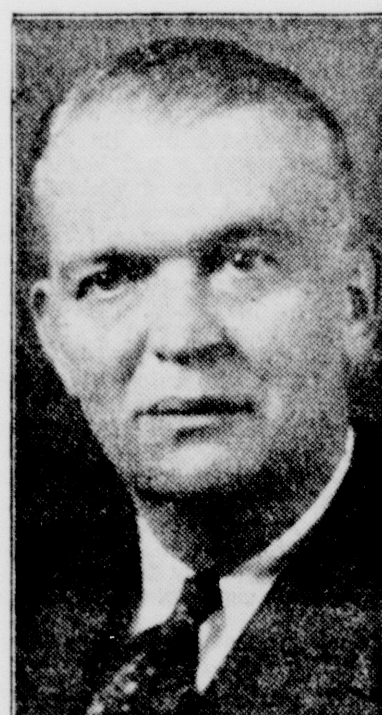

There were stories that several women, trapped in downtown buildings, fainted. Traffic in narrow streets became jammed. Many abandoned their vehicles and sought safety away from the swaying tall buildings.

Almost every large city on the island reported damage to buildings.

Loretta Youna Flees With Three Children From Brushland Fire

Beverly Hills, Calif., Dec. 29 (AP)—A brush fire that raged for more than two hours last night forced Loretta Young and her three children from their suburban home.

Before it was brought under control by 300 firefighters, the blaze threatened several large residences, advancing at one point to within 30 feet of two homes.

KELLY RUNS AGAIN—Harry F. Kelly, (above) twice Michigan's governor during World War II, will run for the office next year, John A. Wagner, former state Republican chairman, announced today.

Kelly, who served as the state's chief executive from 1941 to 1945, consented to run, Wagner said, after a statewide canvass of Republican opinion.

Kelly, who has been practicing law in Detroit since leaving the capitol, reportedly has been reluctant to return to the state political wars, possibly holding off to seek the United States senatorship, which will be vacated by Arthur H. Vandenberg in 1952.

Wagner's statement confirmed reports that the Republican leaders have put pressure on Kelly to bring him back in 1950 and avoid a wide open scramble for the governorship which might damage the party. They pointed out, also, that a victory would put Kelly in a stronger position if he decides to seek Vandenberg's seat.

Sales Tax Hits Liquor Dealers

Stores Add 3 Percent On Sales Today

Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—All state liquor stores and package liquor dealers (SDD's) were ordered to start collecting the three per cent state sales tax on retail liquor sales this morning.

This was the first effect of Attorney General Stephen J. Roth's ruling of yesterday that an imminent appearing amendment to the sales tax law last spring brought all retail sales by the liquor control commission under the sales tax levy.

At the same time, Liquor Commissioner Harry Henderson said he was informed that organized package liquor dealers planned legal action to prevent the state from collecting the sales tax on their sales since last July 1. Roth ruled that the new levy became effective six months ago.

Deputy Revenue Commissioner James E. Mogan said Roth would be asked to clarify his opinion.

He and Roth and the commission seemingly agreed that the package dealers were liable for the tax now, but Mogan said Roth would be asked to decide how the state should go about getting the back taxes.

Roth told reporters there was a possibility the liquor commission might be held liable all by itself for the entire six months' tax, without any chance to go back to the package dealers for it. Package dealers sell 70 per cent of the state's retail liquor trade.

Brucker And Black Try Legal Maneuvers In Slander Lawsuit

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 29 (AP)—Circuit Judge Shirley Stewart had under advisement today legal maneuverings in the Brucker-Black Slander Case.

The judge after listening to arguments yesterday said he hoped to hand down rulings in the near future.

Former Attorney General Eugene F. Black moved for dismissal of a $500,000 slander suit filed against him by Farmer Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker in Wayne county in September, 1948. He contended there had been no action in the case.

In a counter-motion, Brucker demanded that Black's motion be dismissed.

Brucker told the court of his efforts to have a summons served on Black in Wayne county. He declared "Black was strangely absent."

Judge Stewart declined Black's offer to accept a verdict against himself at once so the case could be appealed immediately to the state supreme court.

U. S. Navy Begins Biggest Games In History Soon

Eye Kept On Russian "Fishing" Boats

By RUTH COWAN

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Three more mysterious Russian ships have suddenly been reported in the Caribbean area where the largest U. S. peacetime maneuvers in history soon will be held.

The vessels are described by authorities as "fishing ships"—but without fishing gear and equipped with extremely powerful radios.

U. S. civil and military officials are keeping a careful, but diplomatically correct, eye on the progress of the ships in western hemisphere waters.

After Military Secrets

The three vessels are the Trepan, Peramutr and Chiaka, reportedly enroute from the Baltic to Vladivostok by way of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, the Panama Canal and Honolulu.

Authorities disclosed that these three bring to 15 the number of similar type Soviet ships that have crossed the Caribbean on their way to Russia's important Siberian seaport in the last two and a half years.

With the Chiaka in their wake, the Trepan and Peramutr put in at St. Thomas for supplies just before Christmas. It is believed they plan to get to the Canal Zone the last of this week or the first of next.

One informed source expressed doubt that the Russian ships' primary interest is in military information. He suggested that Russia may be planning to take over fishing grounds that the Japanese used before the war.

Japs Tactics Copied

But in that connection, naval men recalled that the Japanese ships—like the Russian Diesel-equipped schooners—often turned up in maneuver areas at about the time major exercises were getting started.

Last year three Russian vessels—the Omar, Belsk, and Globus, arrived at St. Thomas just a few weeks before spring maneuvers were held.

In this case, military planners are completing arrangements for an Army-Navy-Marine-Air Force exercise involving some 80,000 men, which is due to be held from

Young Paper Mill President Killed In Kalamazoo Accident

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 29 (AP)—One of the nation's youngest paper mill presidents was killed early today when his car ripped through a guardrail and crashed in a ditch.

Officers said the victim, John R. King, 28, head of the Rex Paper Co., apparently lost control. The accident occurred near Richland, 10 miles northeast of here.

King took over the presidency of the mill four years ago after returning from infantry service in Europe. He received not a scratch

People Protest Closing Wells Bridge; Engineers Advise Against Repairs

The Delta county road commission yesterday received testimony that the 40-year-old bridge crossing the Escanaba river at Wells is a "dead horse", and heard counsel for a group of Wells township residents protesting the bridge closing ask why no effort has been made to obtain cost estimates on repair.

The hearing was adjourned to the afternoon of Saturday, Jan. 7, when additional testimony will be received.

Chairman Harry Greene, Commissioners Hilding Norstrom and Elmer Klassell are hearing testimony in connection with a petition to have the old bridge on county road 517 at Wells abandoned for public use so that it can be demolished.

Petitioners asking the abandonment are George Brown, superintendent of the E&LS Railroad and several other property owners in the township, most of them employees of the railroad company.

Trains Shake Span
The E&LS tracks pass beneath the old bridge on the south bank of the Escanaba river. Railroad officials and bridge engineers fear the passing of trains beneath the structure may hasten collapse of the south span.

William J. Karas, superintendent-engineer of the road commission, described the old bridge as "a dead horse that should have been buried a long time ago." He added that as an engineer he could not recommend to the road commission or to the people of Wells township that they spend any additional money in an effort to repair the structure.

Karas' report was backed by letters from J. T. Sharpsteen, former Delta county road commission engineer, now Genesee county engineer at Flint; H. M. Stoll, Chicago, regional structural engineer for the Portland Cement association. Karas testified that Fred M. Walker of Escanaba, state highway department bridge engineer in the Upper Peninsula, had also inspected the bridge and agreed that it was badly deteriorated and unsafe for traffic.

County Is Responsible
The bridge was closed to traffic in late October by road commission order, following a resolution by the Delta board of supervisors urging such action. The county is legally responsible in the event the bridge were left open to traffic and its collapse caused injury to persons or property.

The formal hearing now under way is required by law before action can be taken by the road commission toward total abandonment and raising of the structure.

The bridge was built in 1909 and is 804 feet long with a road width of 16 feet, and a pedestrian walkway on one side. It is of wood, concrete, and steel construction.

All of the engineers who have inspected the bridge for the road commission reported that there is evidence that the bridge is settling badly. It is tilting unevenly on its piling foundations, and is weakened to the point where it is unsafe for public travel.

For the past 12 years, until its closing, the bridge has been posted to the minimum load limit of 5,000 pounds on any one axle.

Closing Is Protested
The bridge has been repaired in the past and as early as 1922 there was apprehension that the structure was unsafe, according to road commissions records.

Atty. Harlan Yelland, representing a group of Wells township residents "immediately adjacent to the bridge", presented the road commission with a petition signed by 295 persons who are interested in keeping the bridge open and in use.

Cooperation of the road commission repairing and maintaining the bridge was asked by the petitioners. An estimated 30 to 40 families residing north of the bridge depend upon the span to cross the Escanaba river. Since its closing they must travel about six miles to reach the village of Wells.

No Funds Available
Counsel for those protesting closing of the bridge questioned Road Engineer Karas on reasons why no bridge repair cost estimates had been prepared.

Karas replied that in his opinion, and in the opinion of other engineers who had inspected the bridge, it would not be feasible to repair the bridge. He said he would do the people of Wells township and the county a disservice by recommending any expenditure for repairs. It would be better to apply any funds available toward new construction, he said.

The cost of a new bridge has been estimated at between $300,000 and $500,000, Karas reported. The road commission has no funds to undertake either repairs or new construction, he added.

The road commission adjourned the hearing to Jan. 7, when it will be resumed in road commission offices north of Wells. Included among those expected to testify at that time are Coleman Nee of Escanaba, who built the Wells bridge in 1909; and Sam Mills, who made major repairs to it about 1922.

Father Of 11 Shoots Wife, Kills Himself On Ypsilanti Farm

Ypsilanti, Michigan (AP)—Joseph Shock, 58, father of 11 children, shot and critically wounded his wife, Neva, 55, and then killed himself Tuesday.

State police said Shock had been sent to Ypsilanti state hospital on an alcoholic in 1946. They said he had been freed several times since then to return home and help out with the farm work. He was a tenant farmer.

Police said Shock shot his wife in the back as she stood in the kitchen of their farmhouse. Then he set the butt of his shotgun on the floor, aimed the barrel at his head, and pulled the trigger with his toes.

The two youngest children, Louis and Louise, 14-year-olds, and three small grandchildren were in the house at the time.

Mrs. Shock was taken to Beyer Memorial hospital here.

Plan Intensive CROP Campaign

Drive In Delta To Open On Tuesday

Rural residents of Delta county will be called upon this coming week by solicitors who will request contributions to the annual Christian Rural Overseas Program. It was announced today by Hagle Quarnstrom, Delta CROP campaign chairman.

An intensive drive will open on Tuesday, Jan. 3, and is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

The CROP goal for Delta county is a carload of condensed milk, the same as last year. The solicitors, several in each of the county's 14 townships, will contact residents and ask them to contribute either cash or milk pledges toward realization of the county's goal.

Last year Delta county conducted one of the most successful CROP campaigns in Michigan. The condensed milk was shipped overseas to help feed the aged, the children and the destitute in war-stricken foreign countries.

Farmers pledging milk to CROP sign a card which permits the operator of the processing plant receiving the milk to deduct the specified amount and credit it to CROP. The plan was also in effect last year.

Chairman Quarnstrom asked township chairmen to have solicitors complete their calls as soon as possible and turn over the results to the township chairmen. In turn, the township chairmen will turn over their receipts to the Chamber of Commerce office in Escanaba, again serving as drive headquarters.

Professor Flies To His Classes

Champaign, Ill. (AP)—Earl Strong, director of the Business Management Service of the University of Illinois, often has breakfast at his home here, lunch in Chicago and dinner in Springfield, the state capital. He is home again in time for a midnight snack.

He uses one of the university's fleet of 34 airplanes to get to speaking appointments on schedule. Men in the University's Institute of Aviation believe that without the air service it would require three equally qualified men to do the same job.

Munising News

Private David Hanson, who is stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., arrived Wednesday for a visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hanson. Private Hanson has a 10-day furlough.

Mrs. John Hill left Wednesday to visit for a week with relatives in Chicago.

Mildred Bawden With City Office

Miss Mildred Bawden, 330 South Eighth street, has been assigned to the comptroller's office of the City of Escanaba, it was announced today by City Manager A. V. Aronson, following completion of the customary six months' probation period under civil service regulations. Miss Bawden is a War 2 veteran, served with the WAC in the Pacific theatre and previously was with the Delta Abstract offices.

Council Will Meet Tonight

Bus Problem Will Be Discussed Again

The Escanaba city council will hold a special meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight at which time the city bus problem will be discussed. Several other items of business also may be presented at the meeting.

The bus problem was postponed from a previous meeting. The controversy developed after the Delta Transit company drastically reduced its local schedule without gaining approval from the council.

Groom In Jail, License Returned

Clearfield, Pa. (AP)—The Clearfield county register and recorder's office got back a marriage license issued in October and an explanatory note. The note said: "I am sending you back my marriage license because the marriage is canceled and the groom is in jail."

Youths Bound Over To Court

Boys Charged With Breaking, Entering

Alfred Groleau, 18, and Charles Dausey, Jr., 17, both of Cornell, Rte. 1, waived examination in justice court yesterday afternoon on charges of breaking and entering in the night time and both were bound over to circuit court on $5000 bonds. Unable to provide bond, the two young men were committed to the county jail to await the January term of circuit court.

The men and a third person, a 14 year old boy, were involved in a series of robberies in Delta county. Groleau has confessed to participating in 17 breakings and enterings in Delta and Menominee counties since Dec. 19 and Dausey is involved in three such cases.

Kept Gun At Home To Avoid Trouble

Denver (AP)—The way to keep out of trouble in an oldtime Colorado mining camp was to leave your gun at home, Frank Stewart says.

Stewart avoided "lead poisoning" so nimble that next year he will celebrate his 92nd birthday. Stewart lived in Tincup, a Gun-nison county gold camp, at the time it was noted for the high mortality rate of its law enforcement officers.

"There was rough young boys from all over the country, but they weren't really gunmen," the pioneer mining man said. "If they knew you had a gun, though, they often shot just to get in the first one. If you didn't carry a gun, nobody started shooting."

Plans To Move Its Pulp Mill

Rhineland Firm
Looks To Canada

Rhineland, Wis.—The Rhineland Paper Co., major employer in this area may shift its pulp wood production to Canada and lay off several hundred workers here, the city council has been told. The move also would mean considerable loss to pulp wood producers in the area who now sell logs to the firm.

In two letters to the council, Folke Becker, company president, said that "unjust criticism" of the taxes paid by the firm and complaints about acid fumes emitted by the plant were two reasons for the proposed change.

Becker said that the "only positive solution to the problem of acid fumes would be to remove our pulp producing facilities from Rhineland."

"We have endeavored in the past," Becker said, "to co-operate with the city, and have always been willing to pay our fair share of the taxes. The fact is, however, that this company pays about 40 per cent of the city tax, which means that we are paying on every ton of paper produced about $6.50 for local taxation."

"Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, the tax this company pays is considerably in excess of taxes paid by comparable companies in other places."

"The management feels that it is necessary to engage in negotiations for the purpose of perhaps ultimately eliminating pulp wood production at Rhineland and having it produced in Canada."

Some Folks Like To Look Backward

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Most people would rather look backward than forward for a very simple reason. It is easier to remember where you've been than to figure where you're going.

Everybody now is taking a reminiscent gander back at the last 50 years—some fondly, some sadly. And it's a popular pastime to debate what were the most significant events of the 20th century up to now. But there ought to be two such lists. One would have such impersonal things on it as the invention of the airplane or the atom bomb—undoubted landmarks in the progress of the human race.

But each man also has had the pattern of his life changed by little personal milestones, small events in the continuing story of mankind but of standout importance to himself.

The airplane, for example, has done little for me except to get me more quickly to places I usually don't want to go to at all. And as for the atom bomb—why, I probably wouldn't know it if one blew up in the next block.

On the other hand, in the autumn of 1918, there occurred on the playground of the Irving Grammar school in Kansas City a happening that changed my whole career. I took on a ruffian in the second grade who was bullying some girls in the class. He threw one punch—and all I needed for Christmas was two front teeth. This made me a lifelong pacifist, and I have hated war and distrusted the Sir Galahad legend ever since.

You may remember 1924 as the long hot summer when Alabama was giving Oscar W. Underwood 24 votes in the Democratic national convention. But that was the year the Gilda Gray of our seventh grade threw me over for a taller boy, and I made a mental note that there must be something you can trust more than women.

Editor's note: What? (Boyle's note: Don't rush me—I'm still looking.)

A lot of folks recall 1929 as the beginning of the great depression. But I remember it for the day I lost my entire fortune—$4.50—playing pool with a friend down the street from junior college. From then on Arnold Rothstein had the betting field to himself. I knew I would never be a gambler, and if racehorses today had to depend on me for hay they would soon be eating each other.

There was a day I thought "I'll never learn to swim," but I kept on until I did. And 18 years later

Sales Tax Bolsters Township Finances; $13,969,195 In Bank

Lansing, (AP)—Township governments in Michigan sitting on a cushion of sales tax dollars, wound up the last fiscal year with $13,969,195 in the bank, the State Municipal Finance commission reported.

The commission report showed the townships had increased their balances by $939,000 during the year ending June 30, 1949.

The townships received $15,315,487 during the year and spent $14,476,491, the report said.

The commission said township governments collected $2,246,391 in local taxes and received $11,713,846 from the state. Of this, $8,671,656 was sales tax diversion money, $2,355,778 was from the intangible tax, and $459,352 was from liquor retailer license fees.

The township's biggest expenditure was $2,882,093 to county road commissions for highway purposes, followed by $1,750,805 for fire protection and $1,406,771 for capital assets.

Van Giesen Promoted By Forest Service

Chester L. Van Giesen has been appointed new regional personnel officer of the U. S. Forest Service, announced Jay H. Price, regional forester at Milwaukee, Wisconsin recently. The Milwaukee office is the headquarters for the nine state north central region of the U. S. Forest Service, which includes the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

Mr. Van Giesen succeeds John B. Taylor who retires at the end of 1949. There are approximately 725 permanent employees in the north central region. In addition, there is a large temporary or semi-permanent force which reaches its peak during the summer months, varying in size from 700 to 1000 individuals. Fourteen national forests, two forest experiment stations, and the regional office is serviced through the personnel office which will be handled by Mr. Van Giesen.

Van Giesen was born at Cayuga, New York. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in forestry from the New York State College of Forestry in 1924 and 1925. His first appointment with the U. S. Forest Service came on June 1, 1925 on the Routt national forest in Colorado. From there he served in various capacities from ranger to supervisor on the Gunnison, Bighorn, Roosevelt and Nebraska national forests in the west.

In March 1935 Van Giesen came to the north central region, taking over the Chequamegon national forest in Wisconsin as forest supervisor. He made quite a record for himself there as an administrator and community mixer.

When World War II came along Van Giesen obtained a furlough from the Forest Service to enter the Army. He was discharged in May 1946 receiving several citations for his overseas work with the Corps of Engineers. Instead of returning to the Chequamegon forest, regional forester Price made him assistant chief of the division of timber management in the regional office. Van Giesen didn't stay there long, however, before receiving another promotion to that of chief of the division of recreation, lands and wildlife in June 1947. He, therefore, brings 24 years of a varied and successful career in the Forest Service to his new position as regional personnel officer.

Mr. Van Giesen has been making his home with his wife and children at 2004 Ludington Avenue in Milwaukee.

Some Arguments For The Bridge

THE Mackinac Bridge Citizens committee has set up headquarters at 28 West Adams street in Detroit and is now distributing brochures and other information on the plan to connect the two peninsulas of Michigan.

Here are some of the arguments advanced by the committee in favor of the proposal to construct a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac:

It would meet a desire of the military authorities, called for by reasons of national defense.

It would eliminate travel uncertainties, delays and congestion of traffic at the Straits which will always be present with ferry service.

It would eliminate continued future expense of the state for additional ferries and docks which will be required for increasing traffic. The state is now constructing another ferry costing $5,000,000 and another $1,000,000 dock.

It would permit the state to sell its ferries and docks for several millions of dollars, funds which might be contributed to building this bridge which would supplant the ferries.

It would eliminate the operational loss of $500,000 a year which the state now suffers in maintaining ferry service.

It would create a new market for goods and services for the people of the Lower Peninsula by bringing the Upper Peninsula into their zone of business influence.

It would triple tourist traffic within a few years and be the greatest tourist magnet of the middle west.

It would create untold new business enterprises throughout the highways of the entire state of Michigan, for people cannot cross a bridge in the center of the state without traversing highways of both the Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula.

It would develop substantial new revenue for the state from increased sales taxes arising from greatly increased tourist traffic and other increased business throughout the whole state.

It would at last unite Michigan physically and give the present generation the advantages that will ultimately come to the state anyway, for sometime this bridge must and will be built.

1949 Tourist Travel Exceeded Predictions

DESPITE pessimistic early-season predictions, tourist travel in Western Michigan in 1949 was from 10 to 15 per cent better than the 1948 volume.

This is the gist of the report issued by Chester C. Wells of Grand Rapids, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort association. Spending by tourists also was on par with the previous season's, although it was thought at first that vacationists would be more budget conscious.

Increases in travel were reported by 36 of 45 states and territories surveyed recently. Decreases were reported in three states. The states and regions, which intensified their advertising and promotion activities, found the increased effort much worthwhile.

It all goes to prove that the great bulk of the American public still has money to spend if its desire for goods and services can be sufficiently aroused. And fun-loving Americans are not inclined to put up much resistance to a good vacation deal.

Flying Saucers Back In The News

AS the flying saucers are in the news again. Only this time the mystery of the airborne disks is deepened by a sensational claim in a popular magazine that the flying saucers are really peekers from another planet.

According to the article in True magazine, the planet Earth has been under "systematic close range observation" for 175 years. The magazine goes on to claim that the intensity of the observation and the frequency of the visits to the earth's atmosphere have increased markedly in the last two years.

The U. S. Air Force, which was given the task of running down the flying saucer rumors, promptly reported the magazine article is not substantiated by the air force studies.

Presumably to lend credence to the fantastic story unfolded in the magazine article, the magazine even goes so far as to identify the types of interplanetary vehicles which we know as flying saucers. One is a small non-pilot disk shaped aircraft, presumably equipped with some form of television or impulse transmitter, according to the magazine. A second is a metallic disk shaped aircraft operating on a helicopter principle. The third is said to be a dirigible shaped, wingless aircraft.

There is, of course, the possibility that intelligent forms of life are sustained on other planets and even the possibility that these creatures are farther advanced than the people of the earth.

It does seem rather strange, however, that the author of the article suddenly has learned that the planet Earth has been under observation for 175 years from another planet. Why have these people waited so long to pay us a visit? Certainly if they have unlocked secrets of interplanetary space to the point that they can maneuver within a couple thousand feet of our soil, as the flying saucers have been reported to be, it would hardly seem necessary to wait 175 years to make a landing on this planet.

These and many more questions will have to be satisfactorily answered before True magazine's fantastic story can be received without skepticism by the people of the earth.

In the meantime, we naively admit that we are very complacent about the dangers, if any, of an attack from another planet.

Courts May Decide Individual Rights

DOES the right of free speech guaranteed by the United States constitution imply the right of an individual to decide for himself what he will hear and particularly what he will not hear? Is there an inviolate right of a person not to hear?

The answers may be provided by the courts before long. Several problems have come up in recent weeks that present these questions for public discussion. One is the installation of loud speakers in Washington street cars, an act that has brought forth considerable protests from patrons. Another is the blaring of commercial announcements over the public address system in Grand Central station in New York City.

Perhaps the most controversial innovation that poses the question of an individual's right to hear is the "Americanism" program of the Allis Chalmers company in Milwaukee. The company has instituted a series of one-hour lectures for its 17,000 workers in Milwaukee. The UAW-CIO union has charged that the company has ordered its workers to attend the lectures under the guise of a job assignment.

The union has charged that the so-called "Americanism" lectures presented by the Allis-Chalmers officials are, in effect, political campaign speeches and that it is an imposition upon the company employees to be forced to listen to them, even though the workers are being paid for the time consumed.

In view of the activities of subversive elements in the Allis-Chalmers union in the past, it is understandable why the company feels that an educational program on the subject of "Americanism" and the free enterprise system may be desirable.

However, if Allis-Chalmers has the right to force its employees to listen to "Americanism" lectures, other employers, who may lean to Socialism or Communism, may also impose their pet theories upon their workers in a similar manner. The abuses that such a practice could lead to are manifold. It would seem that employees should at least possess the right to stay away from any lectures that they are not interested in hearing.

BLIGHTED CITY AREAS (Grand Rapids Press)

Every American city of any great size is faced with the problem presented by blighted areas—those residential districts which have started to deteriorate because a few houses have been neglected by their owners. Grand Rapids is one such city. It has several blighted areas which, if permitted to get much worse than they are, are likely to develop into out-and-out slum districts.

One of the most frequently-proposed remedies for this problem is to replace the decaying houses with public housing. Maybe that is the only remedy for areas which are just about "gone." But City Planner Scott Bagby has a more appealing plan which might well stop the spread of blight and even restore mildly affected districts if put into effect early enough.

Bagby's plan, which he developed and put into effect with good results in Montclair, N. J., doesn't sound particularly drastic except that it might require some street closings. Other features of the plan call for resubdivision, special zoning measures and for neighborhood cooperation. The last would be needed especially in those districts where perhaps a single deteriorating piece of property threatened to destroy or reduce property values for the entire area. In such instances property-owners might get together to buy up the "ailing" house and put it in serviceable condition. In some cases it might be difficult to put that part of the plan over—but wherever it succeeded the city would have a neighborhood where the reappearance of blight would be highly unlikely. Its residents would be constantly alert to the threat and the need for curbing it.

The problem of eliminating blight, however, is not simply the problem of those who own property near where it exists. It is the entire city's problem. Blighting forces good taxpaying residents to move out of a city. Wherever blight has occurred on a large scale cities have lost some of their biggest taxpayers to the suburban districts. Those persons who have moved in to take their places not only have been far less important sources of local revenue but have required more services—fire and police protection, relief, etc.—to be paid for out of public funds.

often syllabicate in a way that would be incorrect for dividing a word into syllables, for example: Scal-y (ska-li).

It therefore is correct to syllabicate the word scaly thus: scal-y, and not as "scaly."

Q. Will you please explain the difference between a tonsillectomy and a tonsillotomy?—R. A. W.

A. Generally speaking, both words designate the surgical removal of the tonsils, and tonsillectomy is the prevailing word.

Strictly speaking, however, there is a fine distinction. Tonsillectomy is formed from tonsil plus the combining form -ectomy, from the Greek -ektomia, from a distance came the baying of the bound dog, Duke, who had started a rabbit.

Holy Land Is Trouble Spot

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The stars that look down on Bethlehem were sadly dimmed this Christmas by the smoke of controversy. It is a controversy that in its implications extends far beyond the Holy Land. Some observers on the scene go so far as to say that it contains the seeds of the ultimate dissolution of the United Nations.

The decision of the U. N. assembly to place Jerusalem under an international trusteeship precipitated the present deadlock. But that decision ties in to the whole complicated problem of bringing peace to Palestine.

While the internationalization of Jerusalem is in a sense a minor piece in the puzzle, it has taken on paramount importance. A solution could mean elimination of most of the obstacles to lasting peace. Contrary-wise, failure can fan ancient feuds and prejudices and make it nearly impossible to persuade Arab and Israel neighbors that they must live in harmony and mutual advantage.

EVATT STARTED IT

How the U. N. could have got itself into such a mess is hard for most people to understand. It is explained in part at least by the intricacies of U. N. politics, which in most instances can be traced back to the necessities of politics in individual countries.

The resolution adopted by the U. N. assembly calling for the internationalization of Jerusalem was originally initiated by Herbert Evatt of the Australian delegation. This gave it a considerable prestige, since Evatt is a former president of the assembly.

Evatt had reason to believe that the resolution would please some of his constituents back in Australia. As a politician, he could not but be acutely aware that a tough election was coming up; an election in which his party was defeated, although Evatt himself retained his seat in parliament.

The Arab states—with the exception of Trans-Jordan—were for the resolution. It would discomfit and annoy their enemy, Israel, and spread further confusion and uncertainty.

The Latin-American delegations were for it in the belief that this was the policy of the Vatican. Soviet Russia favored the resolution for the Soviet Union's own complicated and usually obscure reasons. But Russia could at least claim a certain consistency in its Palestine policy.

So thanks to this strange combination of forces, the assembly adopted a measure which can work great harm. Immediately both Israel and Trans-Jordan, having tentatively agreed on a division of Jerusalem for administrative purposes, declared they would not abide by the U. N. order.

ETHIOPIAN CASE RECALLED

This was a threat to the integrity of the U. N. Gloomy prophets of whom there are always plenty to pronounce the doom of the U. N., were not slow in pointing to a parallel between Jerusalem and the U. N. and the League of Nations and Ethiopia. It was Italy's defiance of the league's attempt to establish a kind of protectorate over King Haile Selassie's empire that knocked the prestige and authority of the league into the middle of nowhere.

But not everyone is so pessimistic. The assembly's decision greatly complicated the task of an American, Brig. Gen. William E. Riley, chief supervisor of the U. N.'s armistice commission in Palestine.

Riley took over the effort to work out a permanent peace when Ralph Bunche, by his long and incredibly patient mediation, had achieved a truce in the Palestine war.

Yet Riley, now in Washington on a brief Christmas leave, has at least guarded optimism. He hopes that in spite of the adoption of the resolution it will be possible to reach a workable compromise.

This compromise would take the form of internationalization not of Jerusalem, the city, but of the holy places in and near the city. Then these holy places, venerated by Christians throughout the world, could be freely visited.

It will not be easy. General Riley, loaned by the marine corps to the state department and by the state department to the U. N., knows this better than most as a result of a year and a half in Palestine. And he's ready to admit that his hope may be merely wishful thinking.

Yet the alternative, to an eleven-hour compromise is so forbidding that everyone must cling to what hope there is. The prophets who pronounce the U. N.'s doom are likely to be confounded again, as they have been so often. But we cannot count on that happening forever as an endowed guarantee from a watchful providence.

'But I Tell Yuh There Ain't No Such Animal!'

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

RABBIT HUNTING.—The day after Christmas was bright and clear—and cold. Very cold. Standing out on that old woods road north of Cornell, waiting for the dog to chase a rabbit out of the swamp, you could feel the cold creep up into your toes, and down around your collar.

The rabbit hunting trip began shortly after noon. Late in the morning our rabbit-hunting friend telephoned to suggest that the time was right to give the rabbits a whirl. He knew a swamp, he said, just the right size to occupy the dog, and enough old roads to afford some shooting when the rabbits went zipping across.

Nothing was said about coffee, but we each brought a thermos bottle. When cold weather comes you don't have to suggest something like that.

THE BUSY PLACE.—The crusty snow covered the ground like wrinkled old parchment, faintly tattooed with the fading pattern of rabbit tracks.

There was no lack of life in the woods, although the creatures made themselves evident largely by sounds of activity that seemed loud in the quiet winter air. A woodpecker knocked resoundingly on the bark covering of an aspen and flew away without waiting for an answer. Chickadees fluttered among the bare branches of the tamarack exchanging low-pitched notes.

Farther up the road a partridge was disturbed by one of the hunters and whirled away with familiar roar of power-packed wings.

though he could not see him. We had to see the rabbit—and that is difficult because the rabbit's white fur blends so well with the snow-covered ground. There were many rabbits in that swamp. We saw but one.

THE COMING NIGHT.—The sun hung low in the south, falling toward the horizon slowly, marking off the hours of the short winter afternoon. The sunlight laced the ground with bluewhite shadows of the trees. On the ridge a partridge flew from the sun-warmed shelter of a spruce into the safety of a poplar tree. There it would spend the night. The tracks of a fox and a weasel in the snow revealed the presence of the bird's arch-enemies.

The cold became more intense as the sun declined. Farther north, beyond the swamp, one of the local men cutting pulp halted his work for the day. The clear air carried the sound of his shouts to his horse and the squeak of the sleigh runners on the frosty snow.

All that was left of the day was a strip of lemon-yellow in the sky and the gilded tops of the trees, touched by the fading light. Duke came out of the darkening recesses of the swamp and wagged a greeting, or perhaps it was a farewell to the rabbits, and started off toward the car. It was time to go home.

Unsightly Garbage Cans

Dear Editor:

Maybe the new garbage collection system is more efficient and less costly to the taxpayers but I don't like one feature of it.

I don't like the appearance of rows of garbage cans on the street curbs. It's an unsightly mess, and detracts from the attractiveness of Escanaba's streets.

Punish The Parents

Dear Editor:

In Eugene, Oregon, recently the city council passed an ordinance ordering that parents, instead of the children, be punished for juvenile delinquency.

Too many parents do not pay attention to what their children are doing at night. They allow them to go riding with strangers and don't know where they are until they get home. Another reason there is so much juvenile delinquency is that there are so many delinquent parents, who furnish a poor example to their youngsters by drinking and staying out late at night.

If parents would act like good children there would be less juvenile delinquency, I'd say. Teen-Ager.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—One American ambassador not likely to stay long at his present post is delightful, garrulous George Wadsworth, U. S. envoy to Turkey.

Wadsworth follows a schedule that runs his staff ragged. He plays bridge until after 3 a. m., gets down to his office about noon, goes out for golf right after lunch, sees callers at 6 p. m.

If an American businessman wants to see the ambassador, he is usually invited in at six, but finds so many other callers grouped around the martini tray that he can't discuss anything private.

What drives Wadsworth's staff really wild is his belief in strict protocol. He demands, for instance, that no one of lesser rank leave a dinner party until the top ranking guest has departed. And since the ambassador usually outranks everyone else, other guests have to twiddle their fingers until 3 a. m., until he gets up from the bridge table.

Once when a young matron, not in good health, tried to leave a party at midnight, Wadsworth put her in her place with: "Where are you going, darling?"

Note—A great admirer of the Arabs, Wadsworth's denunciation of the Jews is so vigorous it is embarrassing. When Arab dignitaries pass through Istanbul, he is a frequent visitor at the airport to greet them.

NATIONAL WATER SURVEY

The U. S. public health service will soon make a sweeping survey to determine the effects of water shortage and water pollution on the nation's health.

Federal health officials privately report that the lack of facilities to decontaminate river water—which most Americans drink—is shocking. A sudden breakdown of these subgrade facilities, they say, could lead to serious water shortages in other cities besides New York.

More than 10,000 new water-cleansing units are needed throughout the nation to decontaminate drinking water taken from rivers and bring it up to proper health and taste standards.

COMMUNIST CAPTIVES

Though the heat was taken off the Chinese Communists after Angus Ward's release, the state department is still trying to free two other Americans from Communist hands. They are Marine M/Sgt. Elmer Bender of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Navy Chief Electrician William Smith of Long Beach, Calif.

These men have already endured one icy winter in an underheated Chinese jail, but the public clamor in their behalf hasn't been loud enough to arouse the state department.

Believing, however, that two enlisted men are entitled to the same protection as one of the state department's own employees, this column has investigated the case of Bender and Smith. They disappeared on a routine training flight near Tsingtao, China, on October 19, 1948—one year and two months ago. Word reached the navy over the Chinese gravestone on November 4 that they had landed in Communist territory, were alive and in good health. This was confirmed by additional reports on January 17 and March 22, 1949.

A Communist agent, representing the pair's captors, got in touch with the navy later and offered to negotiate their freedom. He reported that Bender and Smith had been moved from Hsia Tien to Nan Tsun, China about February 15. The navy delivered a written document, asking for their release, received an answer that the navy would be put in touch with the "highest authorities." However, no further word came through, so the navy turned the matter over to the state department. That began the series of notes to Chinese Communist officials.

Finally Mrs. Smith on July 23, 1949, appended to congress.

"As the navy has evacuated China, my husband has been left behind without supplies and medicine," Mrs. Smith pleaded. "I have never been able to correspond or send him supplies. I have two small children, one his father has never seen. My children need their father as I need him."

CAN'T EVEN WRITE FAMILIES

On August 4, Ernest A. Gross, assistant secretary of state, informed congress:

"Our diplomatic and consular officials in China are doing everything possible to secure information concerning the welfare of Mr. Smith and Mr. Bender and to secure their return. A message just received from the American consul general at Peiping states that he has attempted further approach to the

More Research Into Hangover

Aloha Has Another
Meaning For Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK

Kona, Hawaii.—In years past it has been our custom to treat briefly with the hangover, or skullduster, a malady that is endemic in the mistletoe or God-Rest-Yet-Merry season. It may be only imagination on my part, but it seems to me there are more hangovers around today than there used to be.

This may be attributable to the increasing fondness for double shots of neat booze on the rocks, the dry Gibson, which is an onion immersed in clear gin, or the habit of clearing the head in the morning with a bloody Mary, or vodka-cum-tomato juice.

The imminence of atomic destruction is used by some as an excuse for the ante-meridian flutters, but is scorned as a sign of feeble excuse for compulsive guzzling by the more valiant tosspots. Certainly the hangover has increased among members of the Republican party in the past 12 months, for natural and forgivable reasons, and is still rising in incidence among the rich, who see no surcease from taxes.

As the hangover mounts in frequency, it also richens in variation. We have discussed, previously, the common species of morning malaise, including the skull-throber accompanied by delusions of mice in bed; the languid Sunday kind which packs a mental clarity of a superhuman octanage; the inability-to-let-anything-go type, in which one transfers handkerchiefs, cigaret packages, key rings and papers helplessly from one fist to the other, and of course the tinkling chimes of far distant elfin bells.

Suicidal Hangover

The suicidal hangover is still with us, too—that being the one induced by mixing Manhattans, wine, brandy and scotch whisky in the mistaken idea that alcohol is only alcohol and does not become more vehement by cross-breeding.

It seems to me that the guilt-complex hangover is still climbing steadily, or at least I am meeting more people with sheepish expressions and an air of general bewilderment over actions they may or may not have committed in a moment of exuberance the night before. This is especially true on the singing drinker, the dancing drinker, the dirty-joke-telling drinker, and the amorous, or garter-snapping drinker.

Hangovers vary according to locale. A contemporary has cited a pullman berth as the worst possible place to suffer from the screaming fantods; I will say that the ultra-modern, or airplane hangover, has it whipped. You are nailed to your seat. Babies scream and get sick in your vicinity. Your ears pop, your nose runs, and your eyes stream. You can't get off, nor are you allowed by the hostess to leave the pain with a short helping of doghair. Your stomach squirms, because the pilot always waits until he has a hangover victim aboard before he searches out the rough air.

A London hangover is a frightful thing, when all the world is gray and still and the fog mingles with the dirt-filled air, the pubs are closed and every passer-by seems to have buck teeth and a disdainful mien.

Has London Licked

But I do believe that a Hawaiian hangover has London licked. The islands are full of sites, sights and sounds that are ordinarily wonderful to the senses. But after a bout involving okolehau, scotch, rum and assorted fruit juices, they become repulsive.

The poison green of the shrubbery and the bichloride blue of the sky and sea smite the eyeballs painfully. The sun shimmers on the sands until black specks appear before the eyes. The pound of the surf becomes unbearably monotonous. The mynah birds scream and squawk like tortured sinners.

The victim is surrounded by myriad athletes being sunburned and vociferously healthy, a horrid contrast to his own plight. His head pounds to the ukulele rhythm, his stomach does a slow ami-ami, or version of the hula, and songs like "Kaulana O Hilo Hanakahi," which means "My Island is Bigger Than Your Island," or "My Brother Can Lick Your Brother" or some such, races in and out of the brain until reason reels.

You understand of course, that this is non-subjective, but is the result of an amazing amount of reportorial research in my constant search for truth. Aloha Oh, which means I wish I was dead.

Lower Pork Prices Help Trout Feeding

Lansing (AP)—The conservation department reported that the task of finding food for nearly 2,000,000 young trout in state hatcheries is easing a little this year.

Lower pork prices have permitted the department to get more and cheaper packing house by-products, such as liver, hearts and melts for fish food. Canned and frozen fish and dry meals are also becoming more available.

Fish food became a serious problem during and after the war, and the hatcheries were forced to use horse livers, hearts and other horse meats.

The hatcheries expect to again use about 2,000,000 pounds of fish food this year.

Texas Water Moves To Dry New York For Homesick Texans

Shreveport, Louisiana, (AP)—Three thousand gallons of Texas water are rolling eastward through Mississippi en route to thirsty Texans in New York who couldn't get home for Christmas.

The tank truck started its trip from Austin, Texas, after Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson hoisted a water-filled cup to wish "peace on earth—and a chaser" to Texans far from home.

The truck, loaded with water from central Texas' highland lakes, stopped here after the first leg of its 1,989 mile trip.

The water is a gift from the Highland Lakes News, a weekly devoted to fishing, hunting and loafing. When it reaches New York about New Year's eve, the tanker spigots will be opened to provide a drink for all Texans who can be found.

The water shipment is to travel to New York via Jackson and Meridian, Miss., Montgomery, Ala., Macon and Augusta, Ga., Columbia, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., Richmond, Va., Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia, Pa.

BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL OUTLOOK FOR 1950

By Roger W. Babson

1. The total volume of business for 1950 will be less than that of 1949, due primarily to the unfortunate labor conflicts. Considering that the innocent consumer will be the chief sufferer and will be obliged to pay the bills, it seems too bad that labor troubles should upset the appercept.

2. Even with all the threats, there will be few wage increases during 1950. On the other hand, all labor negotiations take the minds of both the employees and the management off their regular business. However these negotiations come out, they result in a loss from the standpoint of the country as a whole.

3. There will be fewer strikes in 1950 than in 1949, but there will not be fewer extended negotiations which are very expensive in themselves.

4. The Taft-Hartley Law will continue to stand throughout 1950, although many schemes for defeating this law will be devised.

5. The great drive against the big companies will be for pensions and/or for sick and other benefits. These will probably be helpful to the wage-workers and may aid in ironing out the business cycle, but they will be paid for by consumers.

6. It is hoped that all parties will begin to realize during 1950 that the real road to national progress is through increasing production and greater efficiency. This is the bright light we see in the labor situation.

7. Movements in commodity prices during 1950 will vary with different groups of industries and of products, but altogether there will be a general lowering during 1950.

8. We, therefore, advise going easy on inventories. 1950 is a time to get out of debt and stay out of debt. Speculation in commodities should be discouraged in 1950.

9. We believe that the cost of living index has turned down for the present. The average for 1950 will be less than for 1949.

10. Practically all retail prices will average less in 1950 than in 1949, notwithstanding the excess of money mentioned under 27-28 and 29 below.

11. The total farm income for 1950 should be less than that of 1949, which means lower prices on the average for wheat, corn, pork, poultry, eggs and certain dairy products. Farmers should diversify more in 1950, get out of debt and put their surplus money into savings, in preparation for the next crop failure.

12. The supply of certain canned vegetables and fruits (except citrus) should be greater during 1950 than at the same time during 1949. The prices of these products should fall off, barring some weather, insect or blight catastrophe.

13. Poultry and dairy products will especially increase in volume during 1950 with prices averaging less than in 1949.

14. Farmers will continue to work to hold present subsidies. It is popular to criticize the vast amount of crops which the government owns or is making loans on, but this surplus in storage may be a great blessing when the next crop failure or war comes.

15. The Federal Budget will be increased during 1950 over that for 1949.

16. Over-all Federal Taxes will not be increased during 1950 and there may even be some readjustments to encourage venture capital. Moreover, some of the nuisance taxes may be eliminated or reduced.

17. The long-term capital gains tax of 25 percent will remain unchanged.

18. There will be many increases in local and state taxes, and more reaching for relief by "sales" taxes or other forms of raising needed funds.

19. Goods on counters will be of better grade in 1950 than they were in 1949.

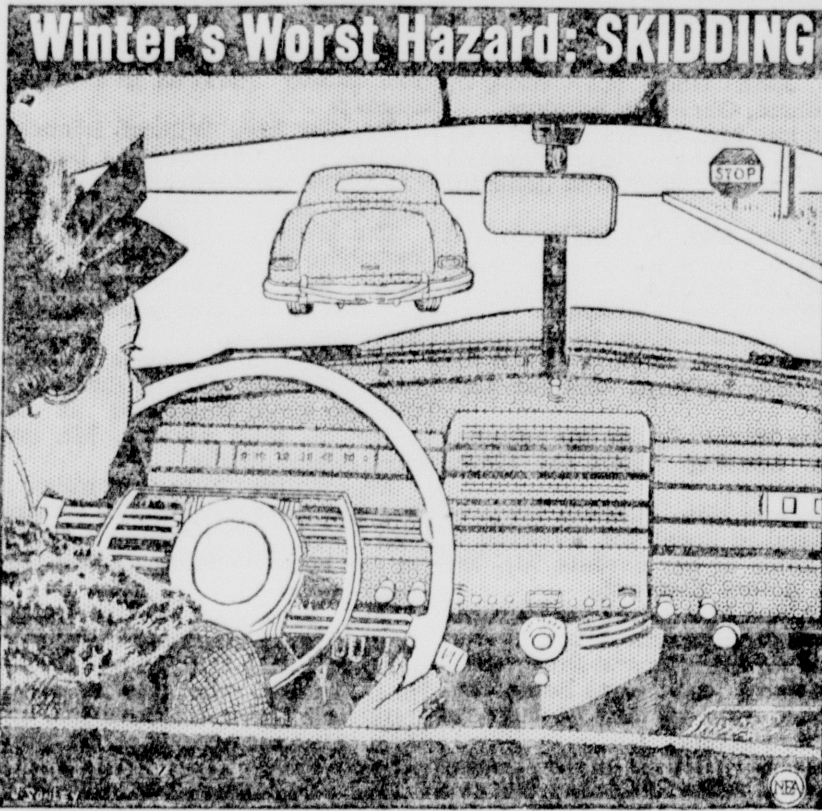

20. Markdown sales will continue during 1950 as consumer spending slackens due to a decline in employment and other factors.

21. The dollar value of all retail sales in 1950 will be moderately downward, and the unit volume of retail sales will also be less in 1950 than in 1949.

22. Less will be spent on new building and equipment by stores and factories during 1950.

23. Our exports will be down during 1950 and our imports will be up during 1950—comparing both with 1949. This will partly be accounted for by the devaluation of the English Pound and other foreign currencies.

24. Foreign credits will continue to be granted during 1950 but some of these will be direct by American business firms and investors. If our government will get foreign governments to agree that such investments will be exempt from any NEW tax or other legislation by the foreign country in which the investments are made, considerable progress

To slow down, pump the brake gently; don't hold it down steady. Under skid conditions, never try to stop suddenly, but check your speed a little at a time.

Cornell

4-H Club Party
Cornell—The Cornell 4-H club held a holiday party at the community hall with 100 in attendance. Attractive decorations were in a color scheme of red and white. The program included piano solos by Bob South and Nancy Way, songs by Connie and Beverly Blixt, and a talk by Father Roland Dion. Gifts were exchanged and a lunch served.

The committee in charge was Elaine Zeiglis, Mary Knaus, Juanita Carlson, Evelyn Miron, Arlene Woodard and Jean Campbell.

Guests were Mel Nyquist, Delta county 4-H leader, Father Dion and Mazie Campbell of St. Paul.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks with a lesson by Elaine Zeiglis on sewing on zippers.

General Business
45. Many business concerns find their operations sliding down toward the break-even point. There will not be as much margin between costs and selling prices during 1950 as during 1949. Unemployment will gradually increase due to the installation of labor saving machinery and other causes.

46. Military preparedness will continue to bolster general business and employment during 1950, but this is not a healthy development.

47. Excluding Government owned commodities, the physical stock piles of manufacturers will remain about the same during 1950 as during 1949.

Politics
48. 1950 will be an election year. The Republican party will remain in the doghouse. The administration will continue to talk radically against Wall Street and the so-called "Selfish Interests", but at heart the administration will be fairly conservative. Its bark will be far worse than its bite.

49. The administration will continue to be sympathetic to organized labor unless someone like John L. Lewis goes too far. In that event, such a man will be made the whipping boy, but with the consent of other prominent labor leaders.

50. The Congressional elections of 1950 will not change the political status of Congress to any great extent.

51. The Federal Reserve will continue during 1950 the same general policy which it followed in 1949.

52. The importance of diversification will be given more attention in 1950 and wise investors will watch their bond maturities to see that they are either short or systematically staggered.

Real Estate
38. The city real estate outlook is uncertain. It should continue to hold firm throughout 1950 due to less available rental space caused by pulling down old structures to save taxes and to provide parking spaces. Owing to high costs and the fear of World War III, there will be little inclination to build new city property. On the other hand, the continual movement out of our large cities—in the interest of decentralization—may cause prices to soften.

39. There will continue to be a fair demand during 1950 for suburban real estate with a shading of prices for large places; but the residential construction boom should continue well into 1950.

40. The demand for large commercial farm acreage will be less during 1950; but small sustenance farms, especially those located close to established communities, will hold up and, perhaps, increase in price.

41. There will be some decrease during 1950 in industrial and private building. The cost of such building will decline a little and the quality of workmanship will improve. There should be an increase during 1950 in publicly financed building.

42. There will not be much change in business rentals during 1950, but residential rents will average higher in 1950. Only as property owners are granted higher rentals will there be more houses built for rental purposes.

43. Mortgage interest rates during 1950 will continue about the same as during 1949.

44. The growth in industrial pensions should help real estate sales in Florida, California, New Mexico and Arizona.

45. Many business concerns find their operations sliding down toward the break-even point. There will not be as much margin between costs and selling prices during 1950 as during 1949. Unemployment will gradually increase due to the installation of labor saving machinery and other causes.

On the other hand, the continual movement out of our large cities—in the interest of decentralization—may cause prices to soften.

39. There will continue to be a fair demand during 1950 for suburban real estate with a shading of prices for large places; but the residential construction boom should continue well into 1950.

40. The demand for large commercial farm acreage will be less during 1950; but small sustenance farms, especially those located close to established communities, will hold up and, perhaps, increase in price.

41. There will be some decrease during 1950 in industrial and private building. The cost of such building will decline a little and the quality of workmanship will improve. There should be an increase during 1950 in publicly financed building.

42. There will not be much change in business rentals during 1950, but residential rents will average higher in 1950. Only as property owners are granted higher rentals will there be more houses built for rental purposes.

43. Mortgage interest rates during 1950 will continue about the same as during 1949.

44. The growth in industrial pensions should help real estate sales in Florida, California, New Mexico and Arizona.

45. Many business concerns find their operations sliding down toward the break-even point. There will not be as much margin between costs and selling prices during 1950 as during 1949. Unemployment will gradually increase due to the installation of labor saving machinery and other causes.

46. Military preparedness will continue to bolster general business and employment during 1950, but this is not a healthy development.

47. Excluding Government owned commodities, the physical stock piles of manufacturers will remain about the same during 1950 as during 1949.

Nat'l Capitol Is Remodeled

Upper And Lower House Look Alike

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

Washington—The newest piece of carving in this well-carved capital says: "Let us develop the resources of our land, call forth its powers, build up its institutions, promote all its great interests and see whether we also in our day and generation may not perform something worthy to be remembered."

An unidentified architect, presumably caught up with the yammering of the gentlemen, caused these words of Dan'l Webster to be hewn in a chunk of stone and erected directly over the head of the speaker in the newly remodeled house of representatives. When the lawgivers get to calling each other insulting names we can only hope that they'll gaze upward and give heed.

If they do then the $5,000,000 we taxpayers spent to rejigger the chambers of the house and senate will have been well-spent. If not, I am none too sure.

Rooms Look Alike

These historic rooms now look much alike. Their ceilings are made of stainless steel punched full of holes to absorb the echoes and painted white. Their lighting is indirect and fluorescent, but in the center of each is a kind of modernistic eagle in bronze and glass through which a direct source of light is visible.

This, according to capitol architect David Lynn, is because a fellow is inclined to get nervous if he can't see where his reading light is coming from.

Gone are the engraved curlicues on the gallery walls and in their place is tapestry brocade, showing eagles, caps such as Frenchmen wore during the revolution, and laurel leaves. The pattern is the same in both rooms, but the senate's walls are in two shades of gold, which glistens while the house's are more modest in blue and white.

The contractors won't get to the lower level, where the statesmen sit, until next year. Here remain the painted frescoes and the plaster whiffenannys, which the critics sneered were architectural features from the administration of Gen. U. S. Grant. This gives the twin chambers a curious appearance, half 1950 and half 1850. One observer said they reminded him of a man with a new coat and an old pair of pants.

Next year the bottom parts of the rooms will be paneled slickly in blonde-colored wood and whether they look then like an Elk's hall, The First National Bank, or the cocktail lounge of the Grand Hotel—as has been variously charged—remains to be seen. Already there are complaints.

Should Sleep At Home

The senate press gallery, which used to be a pleasantly dingy place with big black sofas around the walls, now is colored dove-gray. It has an acoustic ceiling and a battery of fluorescent fixtures which make it brighter than Cecil B. De Mille movie set in technicolor. How, cry the more weary reporters, can they take a nap, so as to improve the quality of their work, under a glare like that? Architect Lynn takes the position, well-founded or not, that they should sleep at home.

More serious still, according to the reporters, is the fact that the new swinging doors from their sanctum to their private gallery are of opaque walnut. No glass to see through. When the senators get to shouting and the news grows hot, they foresee innumerable blackened eyes which, as usual will be hard later to explain.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lavigne and children left Wednesday for Madison, Tennessee where they will spend the winter.

Acoustics in the house chamber may be a serious problem. I sat for a while under those words of Webster, in the hope that proximity might cause me to absorb some of their wisdom, when I was annoyed by conversation.

Far across the chamber in the opposite gallery sat two carpenters eating their lunch. I could hear their every word. One said he did not intend this Christmas Eve to drink too much. The other replied that he was a beer man, himself.

The lawgivers take over their headquarters January 3. And, as Webster said, may they perform something worth remembering.

Carnegie-Illinois Buys Up Site For East Steel Mill

Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (P) The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation has bought a 3800-acre tract of land near Philadelphia as a site for a possible huge eastern seaboard steel mill.

C. R. Cox, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation subsidiary, announced the tract of land involved is on the Delaware river in Falls Township, Pa., about 20 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

Cox pointed out that the actual construction of a steel mill on the site has not yet been authorized. The purchase price and the name of the former owner were not divulged.

It has been reported for some time that U. S. Steel has been seeking a spot to build a steel mill closer to the East coast markets. Increasing freight rates have weakened the competitive position of mills in the Pittsburgh area compared with those along the Eastern seaboard. Steel is sold F.O.B. at the mill with the purchaser paying the freight costs.

A steel mill such as Carnegie-Illinois' plant at Homestead, Pa., would cost one billion dollars to duplicate. To set up a mill like the Edgar Thompson Works at Braddock, Pa., would cost $500,000,000. Both plants are in the Pittsburgh area.

Doctor's Center Is Saving Lives

Denver (P)—"My wife is running a fever and I want a doctor. Can you help me?" The caller was a man from Texas. Mrs. Lorene Davoren thumbed through the files at the Denver Medical Society's referral center and gave him the name of a doctor.

The doctor went to the house and found the woman had polio. She was rushed to a hospital. Another day or two and she might have died.

The incident is typical of the 40 calls the center averages each day. Set up by the doctors a year ago, the center received 300 calls the first month. Now about 1,200 persons call each month.

SUCCEEDS CLIFFORD — Charles S. Murphy, above, will succeed Clark Clifford as President Truman's counsel, effective February 1. Murphy, 40 is a native of Wallace, N. C., and has been a presidential administrative assistant since 1947. Clifford is retiring to private law practice.

SENATOR'S A SODA JERK—U. S. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota spends his time during the recess of Congress helping out in the family's drug store in Huron, S. D. Although a graduate pharmacist and a partner in the business, Humphrey also pitches in behind the soda fountain, where he is seen lending a hand (and a dishcloth) to Delores Timm.

Report On Michigan Government Costs Called Misleading

Lansing (P)—The Detroit bureau of government research's recent statement that Michigan state government was the second most costly in the nation was called misleading by the state department of administration.

Controller Robert F. Steadman, department head, said the bureau's published report was based on a U. S. census bureau compilation which failed to take into account Michigan's veterans' bonus, the sales tax diversion and a different method of financing public welfare than used in many other states.

Deducting the bonus the state's costs were 11th in the nation and deducting the other items Michigan was 27th in the nation, he said.

Steadman said the bureau's report spoke of costs for the year 1948, but that it actually referred to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949.

In that year, he said, Michigan was one of only six states paying a veterans bonus. Failure to allow for this, Steadman said, results in a "distortion" of the facts.

"This is still far from revealing the whole story of Michigan state finance," Steadman declared. "Michigan in 1947-48 paid aids to local governments of $33.67 per capita, which was more than 50 per cent above the average for all states, of $22.22."

"Moreover," he continued, "Michigan also carries a state function old age assistance and aid to dependent children, whereas many other states count their contributions in this field as 'aids to local government.' The Michigan expenditure for public welfare was $11.02 per capita in 1947-48, as compared with $6.71 for the average of all states."

Steadman said the census bureau figures used by the research bureau, a private organization, are computed on a different accounting basis than followed by Michigan and most states, that by the time they are released they are "ancient history" valuable primarily for research purposes, and, in addition, are inaccurate in recent years because of war-time and postwar population shifts.

Regina M. King,
Rudolph Berg
Married Today

Miss Regina Mary King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Eugene King, 504 South 13th street, became the bride of Rudolph John Berg, Jr., of Denver, Colorado, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Berg, 217 Vincent Court, Lake Bluff, Illinois, in a holiday season wedding ceremony this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's rectory.

The vows were spoken before the Rev. Jerome Larson.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore white slipper satin, her gown designed with a painted yoke of charitably lace outlined with loops of seed pearls, a fitted bodice and a full skirt which ended in a court train. Her fingertip veil of imported French illusion, edged with chantilly lace, was gathered to a tiera of loops of pearls. As her only jewelry she wore a double strand of pearls, her bridegroom's gift, and she carried a white prayer book on the cover of which was a purple-throated white orchid with white satin ribbon markers.

Her sister, Rita, who was maid of honor, wore light blue taffeta with doubled puffed sleeves and a double bustle effect skirt. Her white taffeta bonnet was trimmed with ostrich tips and she carried pink flowers on a white tulle muff.

Lt. Robert Sanford Berg served as his brother's best man.

Breakfast and Reception

Mrs. King wore a grey tissue faille dinner gown with a gold hat and gold accessories and talisman roses formed her corsage. Mrs. Berg's gown was brown slipper satin and with it she wore pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The wedding breakfast for twenty was served in the Marine Room of the House of Ludington and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The three tiered wedding cake with its miniature bridal couple was placed on a large mirror, forming the centerpiece of the satin covered table which was festooned with garlands of greenery. Cut flowers and holiday decorations were used throughout the home.

The couple after a honeymoon at an unannounced destination will be at home at 1357 Franklin avenue in Denver, Colorado. For traveling the bride will wear a dark green fitted coat trimmed in grey Persian lamb over a two piece dress of dark green, a winter white hat and dark green accessories. Her going-away corsage is an orchid.

Here for Wedding

The bride, a graduate of Escanaba high school, formerly was employed by the Delta Hardware Company. Mr. Berg, who served in both theatres of war, attended the University of Kansas and Michigan College of Mining and Technology and is a member of Delta Sigma Phi, social fraternity, and Tau Nu Tau, national honor military. He is an engineer associated with the main office of the Bureau of Reclamation at Denver.

Out-of-town guests at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Berg of Lake Bluff, Ill., Miss Constance Berg, Providence, R. I., Lt. Robert Berg, Randolph Field, Texas, William Cary of Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gauthier of Garden, Paul Gauthier of DePere, Wis., Mrs. C. W. Mutimer of Rockford, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thibault of St. Ignace.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Levesque, Escanaba Route One, are the parents of a son, who weighed six pounds and one and one-half ounces, born at St. Francis hospital December 27. There are two other children in the family.

WED IN A HOLIDAY SEASON CEREMONY today, Mrs. Rudolph John Berg, Jr., is the former Regina Mary King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Eugene King of 504 South 13th street. The newlyweds will live in Denver. A wedding breakfast at the House of Ludington and an afternoon reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the morning wedding service.

Skirts Will Be
Shorter Says ParisBy NADEAN WALKER
AP Newsfeatures

Paris—Two of Paris' top couturiers, both recently back from trips to America, predicted that skirts are going to get shorter still.

Madame Elsa Schiaparelli's hint was veiled with a secretive smile and a misleading preamble. "You can't be changing hem lengths every five minutes," she said. "Skirts are going to stay right where they are... unless... they get shorter."

Jacques Fath came out with a flat statement that hemlines are going to be "a bit" briefer. Madame Schiaparelli had an unkind word to say for the outdated brainchild of competitor Dior. "The New Look," she sniffed, "was the shortest fashion that ever was—thank goodness! And weighting her words carefully, she pronounced an epitaph: "It wasn't very pretty."

"All those things flapping around your ankles—we just don't live the kind of life for that sort of thing nowadays."

Of College Girls

The leading lady of the Paris fashion world had this to say of American college girls: "They're very cute, very amusing, and very conscious of it." She considered for a moment, turned on the mischievous Schiaparelli smile, and murmured, "VERY conscious of it."

She also offered a piece of advice to American women on the subject of perfumes—they ought to learn to use sprays like Frenchwomen do, instead of dabbing a bit behind the ear, and a bit here and there, where only a near-by nose can smell it.

The French system of spraying on a cloud of scent is better, she thinks, because that way the wearer herself can enjoy it. "You can't turn around and smell behind your own ear," she pointed out reasonably, "and unfortunately you can't always be kissed." But because "all good perfumes are too expensive in America," she added, women really can't be blamed for using it in thrifty dabs.

Comparing her success in America to a happy marriage, Schiaparelli denied that she ever deliberately aimed her clothing designs at the American market. Women the world over dress to please men, she declared.

Jacques Fath, just back from a U. S. trip which included a stay in Dallas, reserved his handsomest compliment for Texans.

Fath said he really meant it when he told a Dallas newspaper that he was going to introduce square dancing in France. "I have two American mannequins," he explained, "and I'm going to open a school of square dancing with them as teachers as soon as I get back from showing my collection in Rome at the end of November."

Admires Stylists

The designer said he admires the New York and Dallas fashion industries, and doesn't intend to "make competition for anybody." He claimed credit for having been the first to introduce the new short hairstyles for women in Paris. "After a trip to America two years ago I had all my mannequins cut their hair—but even shorter than the American cut," he declared.

Madame Schiaparelli, tiny behind her big desk, and playing with a miniature bottle of perfume as she talked, was wearing a little black suit, black jersey blouse with a multiple rope of pearls, and a one-sided black velvet cap. The young, blonde Mr. Fath, interviewed in the corridor outside his fitting rooms, was tastefully resplendent in a blue, blue suit and a darker blue tie with a small white figure. Both couturiers said they were far too busy with business arrangements to notice any new trends or changes in America.

Delta Hardware
Holds Annual Party

The Delta Hardware company held its annual holiday party for employees and their guests at the House of Ludington. The party in accordance with company tradition was a smorgasbord and an informal program featured the evening's entertainment.

Shirley Flath
Is The Bride Of
George H. Shomin

White mums and pink snapdragons in the standards formed the setting in St. Thomas Aquinas rectory, 754 Lake Shore Drive Monday morning, December 26, for the wedding of Shirley Arlene Flath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Flath of 804 South 13th street, and George Harold Shomin, son of the senior George Shomin, of 1430 North 18th street.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father O'Neil D'Amour.

Miss Mary Sudac was maid of honor and John Peltier, Jr., was best man.

The bride wore an ankle length gown of pale pink satin, with lace trim, tiny buttons marking the back of the fitted bodice and the full skirt falling into graceful folds. Her shoulder length veil was of pink nylon lace and her mits of matching satin. She carried a colonial shower bouquet of white baby mums and small pink roses.

The maid of honor wore an ankle length gown of aqua blue satin with matching mits. She wore flowers in her hair to match her bouquet of white and yellow baby mums.

Mrs. Flath attended her daughter's wedding in a green satin two piece ensemble with tan accessories with which she wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Shomin wore a green crepe print with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The wedding dinner for 30 guests at the Dells was followed by a reception for 100 at the bride's home. The traditional wedding cake centered the bridal table at which Mrs. Roderick Kittner presided and at either end were low bouquets of pink and white flowers and white tapers.

Home in Escanaba

The newlyweds after a honeymoon in Milwaukee and Chicago will live in Escanaba. For traveling the bride wore a dove gray suit with black accessories.

The bride attended Milwaukee Business Institute following her graduation from Escanaba high school. Mr. Shomin, also an Escanaba high school graduate, spent three years in the Marines in the South Pacific and received his degree in July of this year from Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Pfotenhauser of Marquette, Bernard Nelson and George Beaudin of Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bartley of Augusta, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hultquist of Iron Mountain.

Little Princess
Has Black Hair

By Harvey Hudson

Lausanne, Switzerland, Dec. 29 (AP)—One-day-old Princess Yasmin has "harmonious features and tiny wisps of black hair," but it's too early yet to tell whether she looks like her movie star mother, Rita Hayworth.

The infant is also very well behaved and has hardly cried at all.

The description came from the head nurse of the Montchoisi clinic, where Yasmin was born yesterday morning to Rita and Moslem Prince Aly Khan whom she married last May 27.

Yasmin — her name is the Persian for the fragrant Jasmine flower — "is a very gracious, delightful little girl," said head nurse Olga Besson.

But it's too early, said the nurse, to tell whether the baby looks more like her mother or her father.

It's also too early, Miss Besson said, to say whether Yasmin will be a bottle baby.

"We shall have to see during the next few days whether the mother is able to feed the baby," she said.

The baby's crib is in a private room adjoining Rita's, said the nurse. The family plans to go, as soon as mother and daughter can be moved, to a chalet Prince Aly has rented for them at Gstaad, fashionable Swiss winter sports center.

Gilbert Payot, public relations adviser to Rita and Prince Aly, said last night both mother and child were "doing extremely well, despite a long and difficult birth."

New York — (NEA) — Having a "feather in her cap" is a claim which a girl wearing a holiday hat can make without boasting.

Some caps, especially the little eggshell halves which hug the head, like close-cropped hair are paved with feathers. One be-feathered star of Erik Braagaard's mid-season collection is a cap inspired by the "Black Swan" ballet, current New York hit. Dotted with rhinestones to twinkle like a star-lit sky, this all-feather cap owes its dramatic silhouette to four upsweeping coo quills.

A feather cap of canary yellow dotted with rhinestones and trimmed with a side-sweeping ostrich plume is another holiday whimsy which carries fine feathers and sparkle to a girl's head.

Sweeping plumage also trims hats of felt. A spray of long white feathers, to cite one treatment used, falls like a pendant earring from a cap-like cloche of winter-white felt, trimmed with a brown velvet bow.

One of the season's show-stoppers, however—a whopping big halo of black net—is unfettered. This Braagaard design owes its drama to coin-sized velvet dots scattered over a tautly wired transparent brim.

Council Meets Friday Night

Street Paving Likely To Dominate Business

A postponed meeting of the Manistique city council will be held on the evening of Friday, December 30, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The main purpose of the meeting will be to take up matters which should be attended to before the new year.

It is likely, however, that a matter not scheduled on the agenda will materialize as the most important. Recent action letting the contract for two blocks of paving on Walnut street at $23,381.28 has caused considerable comment throughout the city and it is certain that delegations for and against the proposition will be present to discuss the subject.

At the time the contract was let, considerable discussion was given the matter and the council voted three in favor and two against. The favorable votes came from Councilmen William Sellman, Otto Schubring and William Berger. Opposed were Mayor Walter Burns and Councilman George Stephens.

The cost of the project, in reality, it was stated, would amount to approximately $32,000 because it would cost about $8,500 to do the preliminary work to grading and paving.

Mrs. Greenwood Passes Away

Rites Will Be Held
Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Lillian Greenwood, 79, a resident of the Manistique vicinity for more than sixty years, died Wednesday afternoon at the Cloverland lodge where she had been a patient for many months. She had been ill for about a year.

Mrs. Greenwood was born in New York state on March 31, 1870 and came to Manistique when a young girl. She was married on Feb. 10, 1905 to Fred Greenwood, who preceded her in death three years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist church and a life member of the local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star.

Surviving her are a son Russell Greenwood and a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Morrison, both of Manistique.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Morton Funeral Home, with the Rev. William Schobert officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

Keep Up Your Yule Decorations Until Saturday

Do not take down your Christmas decorations, is the request made by Leonard Harbick, president of the Schoolcraft-Manistique Chamber of Commerce.

A committee appointed by the C of C will make a tour of both the business and residence sections of the city on Friday evening to determine whose decorations were the most attractive and prize winners will be announced the following day.

There will be cash prizes for residence decorations and honorable mention for the most attractive store window displays.

Pumpkin Center and Pumpkin Chapel are two Kentucky post-offices.

CARD OF THANKS

May we take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to all the kind folks who helped make our Christmas a merry one. Especially do we wish to thank the Mennonite Church of Gulliver; Green School Sewing club; Ye Old Tyme Carolers; Mrs. Axel Larson and Mrs. R. Matchinski and those who assisted them with gifts of fruit and candy; the Girl Scouts; the Boy Scouts for presenting us with a gaily trimmed tree; the pupils at Lincoln school; Rev. Paul Sobel; Presbyterian Young People; Bethel Baptist Young People and Jacob Dahlvik. We assure you that these kindnesses will never be forgotten.

Signed:
Members of Cloverland Lodge

CARD OF THANKS

It is with a feeling of sincere gratitude that we take this means of thanking all those who remembered the Wendland Convalescent Home at Christmas time. To the Mennonite church at Naubinway; Green school sewing club; Heights Extension Club; the Nurses Club; Rev. and Mrs. Ora Wyse of Naubinway; Rev. and Mrs. Norman Weaver; the Naubinway Mennonite carollers; Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman of Gulliver; Ye Old Tyme Carolers; the First Baptist Ladies' Aid and Philanthropy Class; Albert Cheeseman and the numerous individuals who sent gifts and greetings to our aged and ill to make their holidays happier, we are sincerely grateful.

Signed:

Relief Chiseler Must Spend Ten Days In Jail

Raymond Salmons, 32, a resident of the Gulliver district has found out, the hard way, that relief chiseling is poor business. He was sentenced to spend ten days in the county jail Wednesday afternoon after he had been tried and found guilty of obtaining money from the Schoolcraft County Department of Social Welfare through false representations.

It was charged that shortly after he had cashed a check amounting to $23.90—remuneration for cutting Christmas trees—he had applied at the local welfare office for relief, stating that he and his family were without funds and in need. When the true circumstances were learned, a warrant was sworn out and he was placed under arrest by Sheriff Howard Hewitt. Brought before Judge W. G. Stephens Wednesday afternoon, he pleaded not guilty, but waived the right of trial by jury. Miss Marie Tracey, county welfare director, testified in behalf of the people and the defendant handled his own case. It was learned in the course of the testimony that he was not an established resident of Michigan but had lived, not long ago, in Ohio and shortly prior to that in West Virginia. He had received relief here under an emergency rule. The judge promptly found him guilty and pronounced sentence.

Miss Tracey states that the welfare department is making a determined effort to weed out chiselers. It is the purpose of the department, she says, to cheerfully give assistance to those who are in need of help, but those who impose on the public are making it hard for the worthy. "This is just a starter," she says.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE

A Watch Night service will be held at Bethel Baptist church, New Years Eve—9:00 to 12:00. The meeting is sponsored by the Young People's Society. An interesting program is planned, featuring a musical film with George Beverly Shea and the Haven of Rest quartet as singers. A sing-along, closing hour with refreshments and closing meditation will complete the program. The Y. P. Societies of the Protestant churches of the city are participating. All the young people of the city are invited. Adults are welcome.

Some historians believe that the first American coffee house was opened in 1689 in Boston.

Plywood Plant
Press ArrivesInstallation Of Huge
Machine Started

A huge electric hydraulic hot plate press has arrived from the Williams-White company and installation will be started immediately, it is announced by S. R. Venne, president of the Northwestern Veneer and Plywood corporation, said yesterday.

The large, 16-opening press, built to specifications of the local firm, weighs in the neighborhood of 90 tons and costs $50,000.00. It required three flat cars to transport the machine to Gladstone.

Concrete footings for the press were prepared some time ago.

The press will be used in making high grade panels for furniture and fixtures, the manufacture of which the firm is now converting to after a post-war shutdown.

For about eight years the local plywood firm concentrated on tea chest stock for British interests.

Approximately 125 men are now employed at the mill and with the installation and operation of the press this number will be increased, Mr. Venne said.

A new lumber and core department is also being established and this also will provide additional employment.

Rural Phone
Group MeetsApproval Given To Incorporation

A tentative draft of articles of incorporation and by-laws for a rural telephone cooperative, prepared by Attorney Clair Hoehn, city, were scanned and approved at a meeting of the incorporators at the Alger-Delta REA headquarters here Wednesday morning.

A final draft will now be prepared and after formal approval will be sent to the Michigan Securities and Exchange commission at Lansing for approval.

It is proposed to seek a federal loan for construction of the phone lines. A set-up for this purpose was recently approved.

Attending yesterday's meeting were the five incorporators: namely, Archie Potvin, Trenary; Peder Pederson, Stonington; John Ohlen, Route 1, Rapid River; Clyde Haskins, Au Train and Howard Strahl, Wilson.

Also present were Mrs. Levi Wery, Mrs. Howard Strahl and Ignis DePas of Wilson and A. P. Wilson of Au Train.

Helen Mae Noblet
Holiday Bride Of
T. M. Cunningham

All Saints' Catholic church, it's altars decorated with poinsettia and Christmas greens intermingled with lighted tapers formed the setting for the marriage this morning of Miss Helen Mae Noblet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Noblet, 1221 Minnesota avenue and Thomas Michael Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Thomas Cunningham of 307 West Mulberry, Bloomington, Illinois.

Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette was celebrant of the 9 o'clock nuptial mass. The music of the mass was sung by the Junior choir and at the Offertory Gounod's "Ave Maria," was sung by Mrs. R. Young.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a street length gown of sheer white wool. The long shirred sleeves tapered to points at the wrist and the straight skirt had a shirred panel in the back. She wore a close fitting white feathered hat and carried an all white bouquet. Her maid of honor, Miss Mary Catherine Cleary of Bloomington, Ill., wore a gown of sheer jewel green wool styled like that of the bride with a matching hat of self material.

The bridegroom's brother Ralph was his best man and ushering were Floyd Cassidy, and another brother John.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Noblet chose a burgundy wool dress with a short matching jacket with satin trim and like accessories and the groom's mother was attired in a grey shirskin suit with green accessories.

A wedding breakfast and reception for the immediate family, relatives, and a few friends was held at the Log Cabin.

Following a wedding trip through the south the newlyweds will live in Bloomington, Ill.

The bride is a graduate of Gladstone high school, class of 1944, and of St. Joseph School of Nursing, class of '48, St. Joseph hospital at Bloomington, Ill., and is a registered nurse in Illinois. The groom graduated from Trinity high school in 1942 and from the University of Notre Dame in 1947.

Out of town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. M. Cunningham, Mrs. J. Orendorf, John and Ralph Cunningham and Miss Mary Cleary, Bloomington, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. C. Finch, Chicago, Ill., Professor and Mrs. U. Noblet, Catherine Lee Noblet, Houghton, Mich., Miss Jeanne Artibe, Munising, Mich., Miss Mary L. Bishop, Marquette, Mich., Mrs. Carl Wussow, Madison, Wis., Mrs. M. Feudin' Eagle River Falcons, Marquette Sentinels Clash Here Tonight

'Battle Of Bukoviches' Is On Again In U. P. Hockey Circles

Faceoff At 8:30; Northern Loop Meeting Set To Settle 'Loading Up' Issue

By Jim Ward

They're going to settle the current Bukovich problem at a Northern Lakes Hockey league conference at the House of Ludington at 6 this evening and then players and all will hie away to the fairgrounds rink here to settle the issue on ice at 8:30 tonight. Hockey fans will approve the latter method.

New York Rangers Stage Comeback In Hockey Majors

(By The Associated Press)

The big comeback story of the National Hockey League is being written this year by the New York Rangers.

A hopeless last in the 1948-49 season, Coach Lynn Patrick's crew today is in the thick of the championship fight with about half the present campaign gone.

The Rangers moved into a second place tie with the Montreal Canadiens by thumping the Chicago Black Hawks last night, 5-2.

In other games pace-setting Detroit played a 2-2 draw with Boston while Montreal and Toronto wrangled to a 1-1 standstill at Toronto.

The Rangers turned on a four-goal spurt in the last five minutes of the game to win after Chicago had gone ahead, 2-1, in the first period.

The Boston Bruins cracked a jinx in coming from behind to tie the Red Wings, 2-2, before 13,445 at Detroit. The Wings previously had beaten the Bruins six straight times.

Despite the tie with Boston, the defending champion Detroiters are 11 points ahead of the Canadiens and Rangers.

Montreal scored first against Toronto when Billy Reay found the net midway of the second period. It looked like a shutout but late in the third period the Leafs sent five men up and Harry Watson cracked the corner with a ten-foot nudge.

The standings:

W L T Pts. GF GA

Detroit .20 8 4 44 106 74

Montreal .12 12 9 33 75 66

New York 13 11 7 33 68 71

Toronto .12 16 6 30 82 96

Boston .11 15 8 30 91 107

Chicago .10 16 6 26 94 102

Escanaba Junior Hockey Underway

Escanaba junior hockey got underway at the indoor rink yesterday with the Blazing Stars beating the Jets, 7-0, in the 11-13 age group and the Bombers downing the Rockets, 6-4 in the 14-16 age group.

High scorer for the Blazing Stars was Pat Coyne, with five goals. Bob Rodman and Bill Bohm each collected one.

High scorer in the 14-16 group was John Summers of the lovers with three goals.

Schedule For Indoor Rink This Weekend

The indoor rink at the fairgrounds here will be open for public skating tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon and evening, but there will be no public skating on New Year's Eve, Bob Grabowski, rink manager, announces.

The schedule for the weekend follows: Friday, 7 to 10 p. m., public skating; Saturday, 9 to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m., ice rehearsal; Sunday, 1 to 4 and 7 to 10 p. m., public skating.

SPORTS MIRROR

Today a Year Ago—Johnny Longden rode his 317th winner at Santa Anita race track for a new season's record.

Three Years Ago—The United States scored a clean sweep of Davis Cup tennis matches as Jack Kramer and Gardner Mulloy won single tilts over Australians.

What with the Eagle River Falcons not coming to terms with Mike and Joe Bukovich and Marquette coming to terms with them and then proceeding to mop up via a 13-6 win over Eagle River and 7-4 win over Canadian Soo, the league is in an organizational turmoil.

Eagle River and Milwaukee apparently are siding to hold the caliber of the league down to home town boys and a few strays, and Marquette and Canadian Soo favor improving the caliber of the league by ousting the signing of a reasonable number of outsiders.

To date, Marquette has signed five so-called outsiders—namely Don Nichols, Reuben Parske, Owen O'Brien and the Bukoviches of the Copper Country.

That's within the limit originally set for them, but Eagle River claims Marquette is loaded to the gills—and besides, the Falcons reportedly turned down the Bukoviches.

Here's the Story

Precisely, this is what the Ludington parley is all about:

Marquette has agreed to play tonight's game without the Bucks until the issue is definitely settled.

Eagle River, via telegrams and hot notes to club presidents and league officials and blasts to the Milwaukee press, is insisting that Marquette drop the Bukoviches for the season and replay the 13-6 loss it suffered in Eagle River Christmas Day when the Bukoviches played with Marquette.

So that's it.

But they're be a hockey game, too—no doubt at that. And it'll be twice as heated a session because of this front office feudin'.

The Lineups

Gil Sanborn and his cohorts have notified Marquette officials they will bring the following squad, complete with numbers but no first names:

That adds up to 13, but Sanborn says he'll play only 12. According to league regulations, that's all he can play.

Agreeing to play without the Bukoviches and with Norman Kukuk sidelined at the request of the Marquette city commission, for whom Kukuk serves as city recreation director, Phil Spear, Jr., and Bill Redman of the Marquette club will play the following squad:

Officiating Chore

That's a potent lineup and one that is favored to take Eagle River, despite the expected temporary absence of the Bukoviches.

It promises to be a bangup affair, one that will test the composure, complacency and calm deliberations and judgments of Referee Gordon Olson and Linesman Clarence Matt.

They did a wonderful job in the Milwaukee-Marquette game. This will be tougher.

Fred Enke, University of Arizona basketball coach, is in his 25th year as mentor of the Wildcat cagers here tonight.

Drop Kicker Brickley Dies At Age Of 58

New York, Dec. 29. (AP)—Charlie Brickley of Harvard, one of the greatest drop kickers in American football history, died from a heart attack last night at the age of 58.

He was twice an All-America halfback—in 1913 and 1914—and in his three years for the Crimson set records that have never been surpassed.

In the 1913 Yale game, at the height of the Crimson's football heyday, he kicked five field goals for Harvard's only scoring and a 15-5 victory.

Two of his records still stand. His 13 field goals in 1913 were the most ever kicked by a varsity player in a single season. He also held the over-all record of 34 goals out of 37 attempts for his three varsity years starting in 1911.

After graduating from Harvard he entered the brokerage business and in late years was an advertising salesman in New York.

'Champ To The End'

His death was discovered last night when a friend at the George Washington hotel heard groans coming from Brickley's room and called the house doctor. They found with a pass key and found the former grid star lying on the floor. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Alan Moody, ambulance surgeon from Bellevue hospital.

His son, Charles E. Brickley, Jr., said his father had been ill for a year but would not give up work.

"He just wouldn't rest, he wouldn't give up," he was a champ right to the end," the younger Brickley said.

Father and son had appeared in mid-Manhattan court yesterday to have charges of disorderly conduct against them dismissed.

Their arrests grew out of a football argument that turned into a fight at Reuben's Restaurant, 6 E. 58th street, on Dec. 14th.

The trouble started when a patron pointed out the elder Brickley to a friend, who exclaimed, "You mean that old bald-headed man is the great Charlie Brickley?"

'Fame Is Fleeting'

Brickley took exception to the remark, and before it was over it took 10 policemen to subdue father and son. Brickley laughed it off, saying "Fame is fleeting. . . . It happens all the time." The restaurant owner, an old friend, refused to press the charges.

Although most famous for his kicking, Brickley was also an outstanding ball carrier, and was also a member of the American hop-step-and-jump team in the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm, Sweden.

He was captain of the Harvard football team during his last year. The younger Brickley said funeral services will be held at Everett, Mass. The time is not yet set.

In addition to Charles, Jr., Brickley is survived by his widow, Katherine, and another son, John T. Brickley.

City Grade School Basketball Schedule

Escanaba grade school basketball teams will practice at the senior high school gymnasium tomorrow and Saturday, it was announced this morning. They will work out from 9 a. m. to noon and 1 to 4 p. m. each day.

Indian Six Bows To Aggressiveness, Speed Of Locals

Now you can say the local hockey season is officially on! Gladstone and Escanaba have clashed.

The result, before 500 fans at the indoor rink last night, was entirely in Escanaba's favor.

In fact, the Hawks, once they warmed up to the task with a 2-1 first period, were redhot and gave the Indians a very rough evening, indeed. Five goals in the second period, and the final score was Escanaba 10, Gladstone 1.

That will be an uncomfortable score for the Indians to live by until next they collide.

Hard Checking

The Escanabans checked hard, skated fast and passed that puck in the manner of their play the latter part of last season. They were sharp, just like the World Series razor-blade man says you're supposed to be.

If you were going to pick out any individual Hawk stars for commendation after this melee with a rugged, determined Indian tribe, you probably would point to first to Goalie Gene Harris, who repeatedly made many fine saves, and then you would glance at Bud Hanson, who used a new pair of skates to good advantage to set the offensive pace—he hit the hat trick the hard way, one goal in each period, and added two assists for a big five-point tally.

The Hawks made a fine team effort, as did the Indians, but without a doubt it was Escanaba's night.

Rough Third Period

Ernie Belanger garnered one goal and three assists, and Paul Goymerac and Scotty Grabowski each got one goal and two assists.

Other Hawk scorers were Bud Provo on one of the neatest plays of the night, Beans Pratt and Johnny Cousineau—the latter three of the speedy "kid" line.

Despite the one-sided score, the game was fast and exciting from start to finish. Even Gladstone fans were ready to attest they had seen a thriller. There was something going on all the time.

The third period was a wing-ding. Ed O'Leary, Clint Marenger and Gordon Haga were hitting the ice with regularity as the Indians put the heat on to try to close the gap. There were several pileups as the result of hard checking but the game never got out of hand.

Big O'Leary, long a favorite with both Escanaba and Gladstone fans, got Gladstone's lone tally in the opening period.

Here's the summary:

First period: Scoring—Hanson (Grabowski, Belanger) 13:30; O'Leary (unassisted) 14:50; Belanger (rebound) 16:40. Penalties—Cousineau, trining; Marenger, tripping; Baron, playing without stick, minor.

Second period: Scoring—Provo (Pratt) 8:30; Pratt (scrimmage) 16:40; Cousineau (rebound) 18:35. Penalties—Goymerac (Belanger) 19:05; Goymerac (Hanson, Belanger) 19:40. Penalties—Grabowski, body checking midice; Marenger, high sticking.

Third period: Scoring—Hanson (Grabowski, Goymerac) 2:50; Grabowski (Hanson) 3:05; Dugener (scrimmage) 18:20.

Santa Clara Goes 3 000 Miles For Orange Bowl Tilt

Miami, Fla., Dec. 29. (AP)—The Santa Clara Broncos were scheduled to end today a 3,000-mile, four-day train trip for their meeting with the University of Kentucky in the Orange bowl Jan. 2.

The Broncos were due in Miami shortly after noon aboard a seaboard air line special train from New Orleans, where they worked out yesterday.

They will take over Memorial field at Miami Beach, where the Kentuckians have been training since Saturday. The Wildcats shifted their training grounds to Quarterbacks Field and Coral Gables.

Orange bowl officials hoped the Californians would arrive in time to attend a noon "kick off" luncheon for both teams but that was doubtful.

Jinxed Spartans Lose To Harvard Five, 68-57

East Lansing, Dec. 29. (AP)—Harvard handed Michigan State its seventh straight defeat by a 68-57 score and Ohio State edged Cornell 43-42 in the first round of the double-header series between the Ivy league and Western conference basketball teams here last night.

Harvard takes on the Buckeyes and the luckless Spartans meet Cornell tonight.

Forward Bob Donham, leading scorer for the Buckeyes with 16 points, tucked in the winning basket for Ohio State with 25 seconds to go. Ohio State came back for the win after trailing 27-19 at the half.

For the jinxed Spartans it was the third consecutive loss to an opponent totalling 63 points. Previously they lost three times in a row to opposition teams racking up 73 points.

Good Early Lead

MSC surprised by jumping into a nine to one lead three minutes into the game. By the 12-minute mark Harvard had evened it up at 16-all and led 36-29 at the half.

Again after the halftime the Spartans matched goals with the Ivy league visitors until the score was 46-39 with seven minutes gone.

Al Kirchner made liberal use of his sophomores to try and even things up but the more experienced Crimson team kept pulling ahead and led 51-41 ten minutes into the half and had the score 59-48 with six minutes left.

Forward John Rockwell, leading Harvard scorer this season, carried off individual honors with 19 points although he did not work

Trojans Battle Sacred Heart In U. P. Church Meet Tonight

Ironwood, Dec. 29 (Special to Escanaba Daily Press)—Escanaba St. Joseph's Trojans, who could well be termed the darkhorse team of the U. P. parochial tournament now in progress here, will battle Sacred Heart of Laurium in the Luther L. Wright gym at 7 this evening. Marquette Baraga and Negaune St. Paul's will meet in the other semifinal game at 8:30 tonight.

The winners in tonight's contests will clash at 8:30 tomorrow night in the third annual tournament championship game. The semifinal losers will meet at 7 tomorrow night for consolation honors.

St. Joseph's won the first meet held in Negaune in 1947, and Ironwood St. Ambrose, paced by agile and big Gordon Kennedy, captured the second championship in Escanaba last season.

To date, Sacred Heart has won six and lost two, including last night's win. It has lost to St. Ambrose, 42-37, early in the season, to Lake Linden by a 36-32 count, and has downed Marquette Baraga 43-35, Chassell 61-43, St. Paul 56-28, Dollar Bay 63-40 and Calumet 49-47. And last night it avenged that early loss to St. Ambrose by eliminating the Ironwood five from the meet.

The Escanabans have downed Bark River 39-36, Marquette 59-39, Stephenson 56-48, Escanaba 55-45 and lost to Gladstone by 44-31 and Marquette by 48-43 in the overtime. Sacred Heart is coached by Bob Giroux and St. Joseph's by Tom St. Germain.

Officials for the tourney are Milt McKay and Rudy Simonich, both of Ironwood.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York (St. Nicholas Arena)—Charlie Norkus, 194-lb., Bayonne, N. J., stopped Sonny Parisi, 183 New York, 5. Pittsburgh—Bob Baker, 202, Pittsburgh, knocked out Marty Marshall, 182, Detroit, 8.

Milwaukee—Bobby Sandberg, 134-lb., Rockford, Ill., outpointed John Labriol, 138, Gary, Ind., 10.

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Nanna Erickson, who died Dec. 29, 1947.

What would we give her hand to clasp, Her patient face to see, To hear her voice, to see her smile, As in the days that used to be; But some sweet day we'll meet again, Beyond the toil and strife, And, clasped each other's hand, once more, In Heaven, that happy life.

Menominee Indians Make Garments At Keshena Reservation

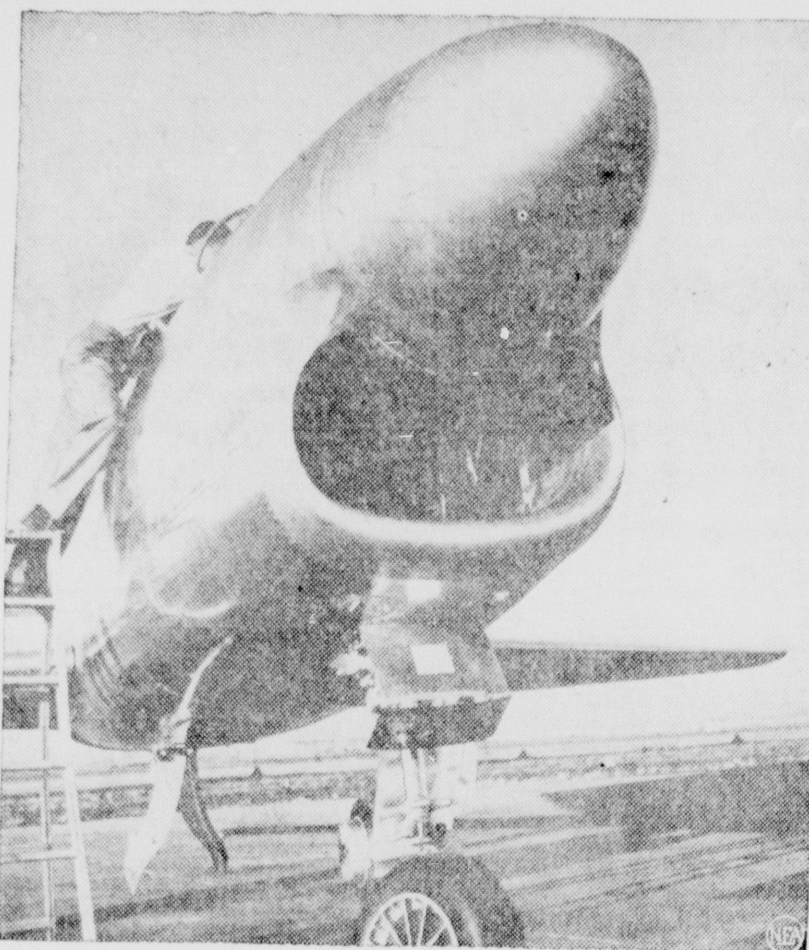

New York (AP) — Under an agreement with the Scampers company, Indians on a Wisconsin reservation are going into the business of producing children's underclothing.

Benjamin Handler, president of Scampers, said here he expected the project eventually would employ some 200 persons in the manufacture of 750,000 to 1,000,000 garments a year. Scampers will market the garments nationally along with production from its own plant at Saxton, Pa.

The company's agreement was made, Handler said, with the council of the Menominee Indians whose reservation is at Keshena, Wis.

He said the Indians have converted an old meeting hall into a modern garment manufacturing plant. Scampers will supervise the operations.

Handler said the Menominee Indians are a self-sustaining tribe who now operate a large lumber mill at the Keshena reservation, employing some 500 men. He said the tribe initiated negotiations for the garment manufacture in hopes of inducing its young women to remain on the reservation instead of seeking employment elsewhere.

FLYING SHARK—A front view of the latest model of the North American "Sabre" jet fighter, the YF-86D, looks like the mouth of a voracious shark. It has completed its first test flight at Muroc, Calif. Designed to climb rapidly to extreme altitudes, the jet has one huge intake duct up front, giving it the shark-like look.

Ban On Comic Books Rejected As Illegal

Los Angeles (AP) — The county ordinance banning sale of comic books on crime has been held unconstitutional by the appellate department of superior court.

The court ruled that the law would also prohibit the sale of school books showing the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. The ruling was made in the case of a druggist arrested for selling a "crime" comic book.
